第四部分 写作

第一节

Version 1:

An Unforgettable Social Practice Activity

Last winter vacation, I participated in an unforgettable social practice activity—working as a volunteer at Dalian Library.

At 8 a.m., my class gathered and started working as scheduled. We were assigned different tasks—cleaning rooms, sorting books, scanning bar codes and so on. My job was to help readers locate the needed books. Their satisfied smiles when they found their books made my day.

This experience makes me realize the happiness of labor and the importance of serving the community. (80)

Version 2:

An Unforgettable Social Practice Activity

I will never forget the social practice activity held by our class committee last summer vacation.

We met at the nursing home at 8 o'clock. Upon arrival, we got down to work as arranged. Some helped with daily chores like sweeping, mopping, cleaning or making the bed, others offering to entertain the elderly by chatting or telling jokes. The big smiles of the seniors made us feel fulfilled.

I am grateful for this experience, from which I realize the value and happiness of serving society. (87)

第二节

Version 1

I dragged into the headmaster's office the next day, but this time he looked me in the eyes. "What did your dad say?" he asked calmly. I looked at him, forcing my eyes to stay dry. "He said if I had to pay, it wouldn't be a scholarship jacket." Then I stood up, ready to leave when he stopped me. "Martha, wait. I have discussed with Mr. Schmidt. We'll make an exception in your case. You'll be the winner." I could hardly believe my ears, but his expression told me he was serious. (87)

At the end of the day, I met Mr. Schmidt, who smiled, "Congratulations." "Thank you, sir." I burst out. Not knowing how to express my sincere gratitude to the righteous teacher, I bowed deeply and waved goodbye to him. On arriving home, I couldn't wait to share the news with my dad. Patting me on the shoulder, he said determinedly "My dear little girl, you should keep this in mind. Regardless of race and background, hard work will always pay off." (68)

Version 2

I dragged into the headmaster's office the next day, but this time he looked me in the eyes. I bit my lip, not knowing how to break the terrible decision to him. Before I chose the words, Mr. Boone said decidedly, "I have changed my mind. We think you should get the jacket. As Mr. Schmidt put it, without justice and fairness, scholarship makes no sense. Brilliant girl, your hard work pays off. You deserve it." I could hardly believe my ears. Tears clouded my eyes. (69)

At the end of the day, I met Mr. Schmidt, who smiled, "Congratulations." His brilliant smile was like sunshine, melting all the iceberg at the bottom of my heart. Without hesitation, I threw my arms around him and gave him a big hug. He patted me on the shoulder and said gently, "Martha, keep up! Do your best!" I nodded firmly. I knew he had rooted a strong belief in my heart. I would be a person like him, upright, honest and most importantly treating people equally and fairly. (78)

听力材料

(Text 1)

W: Hi. Do you have a large size for this blue shirt?

M: I'm sorry but we're out of the large size. But our shop on 7th street has them. If you like, I can make a call now.

(Text 2)

M: You've been quiet since we left the theater. What's the matter? Didn't you like the movie?

W: No. I'm tired of all that blood and people killing each other.

M: Hold on! You saw how full the theater was. People like it.

(Text 3)

W: Tim, I read your online article about animals. You really know a lot about them. You must read lots of books on them.

M: Actually I like watching the Animal World program on TV. And I learn from it.

(Text 4)

W: You are watching TV! Why don't you share some housework? It is always my turn to empty the dishwasher.

M: It isn't. I did it yesterday — and I've cleaned the cooker.

(Text 5)

W: Good evening, sir. Would you like to start off with something to drink today? We have a wide selection of soft drinks.

M: Do you have mineral water as well? I have to take some medicine.

第二节

(Text 6)

M: Ashley, is that true that you're leaving the company soon?

W: Yes, I have no choice. As you know, I've been here for years, but this company hasn't promoted me for five years since I was first promoted. I've found a better job.

M: We've worked together all that time. I know how you feel. The company hasn't raised our salaries for three years, either.

W: Well, once I settle in at my new job, I'll see if I can help you get a job there as well. It would be great to work together again.

(Text 7)

W: I heard you were in hospital for a few days to have an operation. I hope everything's OK.

M: Yes, fine. I had something wrong with my stomach, but it wasn't serious.

W: It must have really hurt after the operation.

M: Well, the nurse gave me plenty of painkillers, but I did feel uncomfortable. I wasn't permitted to eat anything for 48 hours after the operation. That was the worst thing.

W: I'm sure you are ready for a thick juicy steak now. Let's eat in the restaurant in Garstang Road.

M: I'm afraid I can't. The doctor gave me a list of food I couldn't eat, and steak is on the list!

(Text 8)

M: Hi, Julie. Wasn't the indoor wildlife center wonderful? I've never seen such an amazing building.

W: Hi Greg. Didn't you find it tiring though, walking up so many stairs? And it was hard to find your way around. But it was an interesting start down on the basement, where it was so dark that I didn't see the sharks at first in the water behind the glass.

M: I saw them, but they looked quite scary. However, those butterflies right at the top of the building were amazing.

W: Yes, they were beautiful. Did you manage to see any tree frogs? They were so cute.

M: I spent ages hunting for them, but I couldn't find a single one.

W: That was a pity! By the way, I really can't wait to go back because there is just too much to see.

M: I think we should read more about the wildlife before we think of going back there.

(Text 9)

M: Oh, hello. I'm Jack. This is the Law Students Association, right?

W: Yes, that's right. I'm Mary, President of the Association. Are you interested in joining?

M: Maybe. What year are you in?

W: The fourth year.

M: I'm in the first year. I'm not sure if I'll survive even into the second year.

W: I'm sure you'll make it just fine. It does seem a bit worrying at the beginning, but it gets easier. Trust me.

M: That's hard to imagine. So, do I have to pay to join the association?

W: Well, there's an annual membership fee of 10 pounds, or you can get four-year membership for 35 pounds.

M: Mm, what activities do you have?

W: We have guest speakers, talking about various topics. There's a meeting on the first Tuesday of every month.

M: That sounds great. I'd love to hear about their experience. But my timetable is so full already. I don't think I have enough time to go to the meetings. Any other activities?

W: Well, we offer some peer coaching.

M: What's that? Sounds like you're mixing study and sport.

W: Not in that way. Peer coaching is when other students help you if you're having problems with your study. Usually, we get the senior students — the third or fourth years — to do it.

M: I see.

(Text 10)

W: I'm Olga Victoria. Now I'm volunteering as a doctor in MSF, which is one of the world's largest organizations that provide emergency medical relief. One of the biggest tasks I undertook this year was organizing a team to open a new hospital in a town that had no medical care for three years. The project was a success and the local people were thankful.

What qualities and skills do you need to become a volunteer for MSF? You have to be able to deal with stress, and you need to be able to work independently as well as in a team. Besides medical experts, MSF needs the skills of technical staff such as building engineers and food experts. Now HIV and TB doctors are urgently needed. The work is tough and demanding but the rewards can be great. If you think you fit one of the positions, find out how to apply for it on our website www.msf.org.
