第四部分 写作

第一节 应用文写作

参考范文:

Dear Wang Ping,

Hearing the news that you have been trapped in Italy with high temperature, our hearts sink and we are concerned about your safety.

Owing to the fact that virus attacks Italy critically at a rapid speed, it's of great significance that you should take considerate care of yourself and let go of anxiety. As somebody puts it, "Body is the capital of revolution." Meanwhile, it's appropriate to review the text comprehensively and make an adequate preparation for the coming entrance exam. We are with great pleasure to offer instant assistance. Therefore/Thus, don't hesitate to call us when you need help.

Our heartfelt thoughts and prayers are always with you. May you have a quick recovery.

Yours sincerely,

Li Hua

第二节 读后续写

参考范文:

Paragraph 1:

My face pressed against the window and I found it hard to breathe. The car pulled in front of the house, and out of it emerged my precious daughter, making her way up the steps. Tears stinging my eyes (泪水模糊了我的眼睛), I threw open the door, pulled her inside and hugged her tightly. The dream was just too real and I could hardly believe I was now having my daughter in my hug. I wondered if it was because my pray was answered. Then through my blurred vision (模糊的视野) I saw a lady stepping out of the car.

Paragraph 2:

"Mom, she gave me a ride home," Becki said. "My car broke down on the highway and without her help, I would never have made it home in my high heels," she continued, exposing her blistered ankles. My heart shuddered at the thought of how painfully she staggered along the dark highway. She must be an angel for Becki! I approached the lady and invited her inside. Now, I was definitely grateful to her for extending a helping hand.

Text 1

W: It takes too much time to cook; I wish I had more time to study.

M: Why don't you eat at the university cafeteria? It's not too expensive.

Text 2

W: May I have a look at this handbag, please?

M: Sorry, madam. It is a sample for show. This kind of handbag is out of stock.

Text 3

M: Here are two magazines and three books. How long can I keep them, madam?

W: Magazines only for one week, and you can keep the books for another two weeks.

M: OK. I'll return them on time.

Text 4

W: That's serious sunburn you've got during the holiday, Sam.

M: I know. We had a lot of fun in the water and played beach volleyball.

Text 5

W: Did you hear that the convenience store at the street corner was robbed last night?

M: Yes, I saw it on the news. Now even this neighborhood isn't safe!

Text 6

M: Did you buy anything in town yesterday?

W: Yes, I bought this amazing red bag and a fantastic new skirt.

M: Oh, is that it? It's a lovely blue color.

W: Not this one. I've had this skirt for months. I actually saw two that I loved. I tried on a beautiful green silk skirt and a bright yellow one as bright as your shirt. They were both great and weren't very expensive but the yellow one was too small, so I got the other one.

Text 7

W: That is really great — their music is excellent.

M: Yes. I can't believe this is their last show.

W: They're going to put out a film of it later on, but it's such a shame that they won't be on stage together any more. This band doesn't have many members but their performance is just amazing.

M: It will be on DVD as well I suppose. I'll definitely buy that though it won't be as good as tonight.

W: Better than nothing, though.

Text 8

M: I'm going whitewater (急流) boating this weekend, Mary. And one of my buddies, Phil — you know Phil, don't you?

W: Uh-huh.

M: Well, Phil can't go because he hurt his back playing soccer, so there's room for one more. You want to go with us?

W: Are you kidding? I've never gone whitewater boating.

M: Aw, come on. There's a mini-course being given by the Explorers' Club Wednesday night this week. Take it and you'll be ready to go with us.

W: No way! I'll never learn enough in two hours to go on a trip for a whole weekend!

M: Sure you can! The instructor is great. I know of lots of people who've done it.

W: Well, it's probably not such a good idea, but how much does it cost?

M: Well, the trip will cost you $150 with everything — food, equipment, everything. The course is only 20 bucks.

W: That's not too bad. I'll think about it.

Text 9

W: Excuse me, sir. You look like you're looking for something. Can I help you find anything?

M: Yes. The way things are organized here is really different than usual. Did you guys change some stuff around or something?

W: Yes, we made some changes. For example, the area we're standing in used to be the bakery, and the meat section was on the other side of the store, but we changed those locations about two weeks ago. And now the meat section is in the back of the store.

M: No wonder. I come here once a month.

W: What do you think of the way it looks?

M: Well, to be honest, it's not as easy for me to find the things I need. I like the old way better.

W: Well, I'll keep it in mind and bring it up with my manager. Is there anything I could help you find?

M: I really need some items for the bathroom. Where would I find those?

W: On Goods Shelf 4. The entire shelf is filled with things for the bathroom.

M: Great! I'm also looking for some oranges, but I can see the fruit section just to the left over there. I'll let you know if I need any more help.

Text 10

W: I was born before my sister Stacy — two minutes and 58 seconds before her, to be exact! I've always been really proud to be the older one. We are twins, but we don't look the same. There are some twins who look alike and others who don't. And our personalities couldn't be more different. I'm outgoing and loud, and I play sports whenever I can. My sister is quiet and shy, and she prefers to read books. We grew up in the Midwest — our parents were both professors at the University of Chicago. Personally, I feel lucky that our parents didn't try to do silly things like dressing us up in the same clothes when we were little. As kids, my sister and I developed our own language that only we could understand. It made our parents so angry, and that only made us use it more! I can still remember that day my sister and I left for colleges on opposite sides of the country — her to Harvard and me to Stanford. Both places seemed really far away. I felt like our lives would change forever, but they didn't. We're now in our mid-thirties, and we've never been closer!
