One possible version:

Let's create a smoke-free world together

The harmful effects of cigarette smoking on the individual and collective health have been clear for decades. Around seven million people die of tobacco-related diseases in the world every year. Smoking is a silent killer which not just kills the smokers but also the people around the smokers.

To create a smoke-free world, tobacco control regulations should be strictly enforced and campaigns to educate both the young population and adults about the health risks of tobacco use should be stepped up. Government officials, medical workers and teachers should refrain from smoking during working hours at workplaces. Parents should also lead by example and guide their children to shun tobacco.

One possible version:

The next morning, I felt myself growing weaker. I couldn't move at all. I was coming to terms with the fact I might die. I tried to stay positive. I was sure somebody would realise I was missing. In a last-ditch effort, I called Taz over and told him to go and get help. I always talked to him like a human. Taz took off through the canyon and I lay there thinking about my family and friends. There was more that I wanted from life.

Hours later, Taz returned, alone. Then I heard an engine in the distance. I started yelling for help, and that's when I saw a man walking towards me. He told me that he'd come to find me. I cried with joy. It turned out my neighbour noticed I hadn't come home, and Taz had found a search and rescue team. I was airlifted to hospital, where doctors found I had lost almost half the blood in my body. If the rescue team had arrived later, I wouldn't have made it. Taz is my loyal friend – we'll always have a special bond.

M: I'm going to the café across the street. Need anything?

W: Yes. Can you get me a large black coffee please? I have to write two articles this afternoon, so I need it to keep me focused and awake.

M: Sure. I'll get you a chocolate cake too.

Text 2

M: Is that woman in the yellow dress Miss Cake, our new English teacher?

W: No. That is Bob Smith's mom. She is meeting with Mrs. Smart to discuss Bob's recent behavior.

M: Yes. He fell asleep in class yesterday.

Text 3

M: Mary, can you tidy up all your toys from the back yard before your mom gets home?

W: Sure thing, Dad. I'm just finishing my homework.

M: OK. I'll be outside cleaning the car if you need me.

Text 4

M: Hey, Lisa. Have you seen the doctor yet?

W: Yes. He thought my leg was broken and suggested that I should take an X-ray. I might need to stay at home for a long time.

M: OK. Text me when you're finished and I'll come to pick you up.

Text 5

M: I'm on the train to Central Station. It gets in at 12:00. That gives me 20 minutes to get to the bus station.

W: OK. I'll wait for you at Gate 35 when you get here. It's the bus to Aberdeen.

M: Great. See you soon.

Text 6

M: Mrs. Black, I want to apologize. I accidentally kicked my ball into your garden and I think I heard a window break.

W: It wasn't a window. It was just a cup I had left outside.

M: Well, anyway, I'm sorry. I'd like to buy a new one for you.

W: There's no need, Kevin. It was an old cup.

M: But my sister says we should always pay for our mistakes.

W: Your sister is very wise. If you want to make it up to me, you could walk my dog.

M: OK.

W: Great.

Text 7

M: This is exciting. I can't remember the last time we were at the theater.

W: It was three years ago. We came to see the Scottish play.

M: You're right, and we went to Scotland the following year.

W: Yes, and we stayed in a really nice hotel with the mountain views.

M: We should go back there this year.

W: Definitely. Maybe we should go in winter instead of summer.

M: That's a great idea. Because the landscape will look beautiful covered in snow.

W: We'll look at our holiday plan when we get home. The show is about to begin.

Text 8

M: Oh, look at the little dog. He's cute. Can we take him home, Mom?

W: I'm afraid we can't. Your father can't be around dogs. Their hair makes him ill.

M: What about this cat instead?

W: He doesn't look very friendly.

M: He just needs a loving home to come to.

W: OK. But you need to look after him.

M: What will I need to do?

W: You'll need to brush him and clean his toilet box. You will also need to feed him and make sure he's drinking enough water.

M: OK. I can do that.

W: OK. Let's go speak to the adoption assistant and fill out the form.

Text 9

M: How often are you allowed to watch TV, Sylvia?

W: I'm allowed to watch one hour of TV every day, as long as I have finished my homework.

M: What about at the weekend?

W: At the weekend, I can watch two hours each day.

M: Wow, that's a lot. I'm not allowed to watch TV at all.

W: Really? So you don't watch movies or sports?

M: No, I only see sports if I am at the event.

W: That is a shame. Some TV shows can be both entertaining and educational. Why don't your parents let you watch TV?

M: They say it is bad for my eyes. If I am not studying, I am practicing the violin.

W: I honestly don't know how you get by without watching TV. I would be bored out of my mind.

M: I think you'd be surprised how easy it is to live without one. You would read more books.

W: I guess that's true.
