One possible version:

It wasn't an easy decision. I had two choices----either keep lying to myself or do a different degree. Changing course would make the past two years of university a waste of time and money. But I realized that though I'd hate myself for quitting, I'd hate myself more if I ended up being a terrible doctor. I was glad to move onto something new, but I had to deal with my parents' constant disappointment and complaining about my future.

Eventually, I changed my course to English writing and suddenly I was enjoying university. I was still studying my brains out, writing all night and through the weekend, but, this time, enjoying the pain. I'd spend hours perfecting a single paragraph until I was happy with it. Five hours feels like 20 seconds because I was having so much fun striking my head on the keyboard until good words come out. I started looking for internships that would give me experience in professional writing. Fortunately, I made it as an editorial assistant at a website.

M: Hello. International Friends Club. Can I help you?

W: Oh, hello. I read about your club in the paper today and I thought I'd phone to find out a bit more.

M: Yes, certainly, well we're sort of a social club for people from different countries. It's quite a new club—we have about 50 members at the moment, but we're growing all the time.

W: That sounds interesting. I'm British actually, and I came to Washington about three months ago. I'm looking for ways to meet people. Er, what kinds of events do you organize?

M: Well, we have social get-togethers, and sports events, and we also have language evenings.

W: Could you tell me something about the language evenings?

M: Yes. Every day except Thursday we have a language evening. People can come and practise their languages—you know, over a drink or something. We have different languages on different evenings. Monday—Spanish; Tuesday—Italian; Wednesday—German; and Friday—French. On Thursdays we usually have a meal in a restaurant for anyone who wants to come.

W: Well, that sounds great. I really need to practise my French.

M: OK. Well, if you can just give me your name and address, I'll send you the form and some more information. If you join now you can have the first month free.

试音到此结束。听力考试正式开始。

(Text 1)

M: We should discuss our plans for the movie. Since it starts so soon after work, getting there might be a problem.

W: I'm not really familiar with the underground. Why don't we take a taxi or bus?

M: No, we might be late if we run into traffic. Don't worry. I know well about the underground.

(Text 2)

W: Hello, I want to order two large pizzas. I'd like them for delivery. My address is 14 Walnut Drive.

M: The pizza is 10 dollars each and you need to pay 5 dollars for delivery. It should take about forty-five minutes to get to your place.

(Text 3)

M: I heard you were going to attend the meeting on Wednesday, Mary. I didn't know you would go.

W: Yes, Gary. I am responsible for the project now. I took Dan's place since he had to be on sick leave.

(Text 4)

W: Are you satisfied with the restaurant?

M: Well, I have to say it's not my thing. The food was fine, but the restaurant was too crowded and the waiters kept shouting all the time. I thought they should be working in a quieter and friendlier way.

(Text 5)

W: Have you read this new best-seller by Mike Brooklyn?

M: No, I haven't. I don't really enjoy fiction.

W: I think you'd like this one — it's a very fast paced adventure, and Brooklyn has a really wild imagination.

M: Really? Maybe I'll try to read it when I'm on vacation.

第一节到此结束。

M: No, I haven't received anything from him. If we don't get those figures by tomorrow morning, we won't be able to draw up next year's budget on time.

W: We have to set the budget until Thursday, so maybe you should call him and find out what happened.

M: I think I will. If I don't hear from him by four, I'll try calling his office.

听下面一段对话，回答第 8 至第 10 三个小题。现在，你有 15 秒钟的时间阅读这三个小题。

(Text 7)

W: Thank you for meeting me, Dr. Freeman.

M: It's my pleasure. I'm glad to be here.

W: Sorry for the short notice, but we're hoping to air this story on tonight's evening news. The producer already briefed you about our interview, right?

M: Yes, she told me we're going to discuss the research results of our study.

W: Yes, hopefully the results will encourage more people to recycle and care for the environment. The interview should take about thirty minutes. Are you ready to begin?

听下面一段对话，回答第 11 至第 13 三个小题。现在，你有 15 秒钟的时间阅读这三个小题。

(Text 8)

W: So, Eric, how is life in Greenland these days?

M: Oh, you know. Winters are long. I live on the coast, though, so I get to see the ocean every day. That's always nice.

W: I heard that winters in Greenland are somewhat shorter than they used to be — global warming, I guess?

M: Yes, that's true. They're calling it "the greening of Greenland".

W: The "greening"? What does that mean?

M: Well, the average temperature in Greenland is rising twice as fast as in other places. So, now I have a few trees near my house. Trees didn't use to exist in Greenland, you know! And we, um, people are growing some vegetables now — cabbage, potatoes, and things like that. And farmers can grow more grass for their animals.

听下面一段对话，回答第 14 至第 16 三个小题。现在，你有 15 秒钟的时间阅读这三个小题。

(Text 9)

W: Hello, this is Tina. I haven't booked my flight to DC yet, but I was wondering if you have any advice on how to best get to you from the airport?

M: Yes, well, if you're flying, Reagan National is the closest. You can take the underground right in from there. Dulles is further away and a taxi is probably the easiest. And then Baltimore-Washington Airport connects to a train that you can take right into the main train station in town.

W: OK, cool, I think Reagan should be the best. And do you pretty centrally lie in DC? Like, next to all the sights and everything? My friend asked me to stay in her house, but I don't think it would be very convenient.

M: Yep. We're in the Dupont Circle area, pretty central to DC. You can walk down to the White House. The underground is right around the corner.

W: Do you include breakfast?

M: Yes, madam, and we also offer dinner if you like.

W: OK. That sounds good. Thank you. I'm going to think about it and once I've got everything booked, I'll give you a call.

M: OK. Have a good day.

听下面一段独白，回答第 17 至第 20 四个小题。现在，你有 20 秒钟的时间阅读这四个小题。

(Text 10)

W: I've just discovered a fantastic new show called How Do They Do That?. The idea is simple. Take a topic — like travel, for example and then think of lots of little mysteries that could be explained. How do planes take off and land? That sort of thing. Then get two young, enthusiastic hosts in a lab to do lots of exciting experiments. Add some pictures to explain the process to the audience and that's the show. Get the idea?

Each edition looks at a different subject. As well as travel, topics that have already been covered include education, the body, things around the house and magic — my favorite so far. Still to come are personal finances, the natural world, sports, and life and how to live it. The one I'm personally looking forward to the most is how to meet the perfect partner. But some of my friends would like to know how to eat chocolate without putting on weight.

What I like most about the show is that it's fun and you learn something at the same time, so you don't feel so guilty about spending 60 minutes in front of the TV each week. So if you aren't already watching How Do They Do That?, I strongly recommend that you make the time. You'll never think it boring. It's on every Tuesday at 9 p.m. but this week's edition won't be shown until half an hour later because of the live international soccer game. Get watching and start learning!

第二节到此结束。现在，你有两分钟的时间将试卷上的答案转涂到客观题答题卡上。
