

2018 学年第二学期温州新力量联盟期中联考

高二年级英语学科 参考答案

第一部分 听力（每题 1.5 分，共 30 分）

1—5 CCBCB 6—10 BCAAC 11—15 BAACC 16—20 BCBCB

第二部分 阅读理解（共 45 分）

第一节 21-30DCB BCAA CDD（每题 2.5 分，共 25 分）

第二节 31-35DGBCE（每题 2 分，共 10 分）

第三部分

第一节 完形填空 36-45 DCACB DBABC 46-55 ABCDB DACDA（每题 1.5 分，共 30 分）

第二节（每题 1.5 分，共 15 分）

- | | | | | |
|----------------|--------------|-------------|--------|----------------|
| 56. which/that | 57. prepared | 58. singing | 59. a | 60. seriously |
| 61. first | 62. exciting | 63. with | 64. my | 65. confidence |

第四部分 写作（共 40 分）

应用文写作（满分 15 分）

Dear Chen Hui,

I'm sorry to learn that you intend to drop out for high stress. As one of your friends, I hope that you can give up the idea.

First of all, you should have a right attitude towards stress. Stress is a small part in our normal life. Second, I suggest you calm down and find out the cause of your stress and manage to come up with ways of dealing with it. As to how to reduce stress, you may take exercise, listen to music or turn to your teachers or classmates for help.

I hope that you can take my suggestion into account and I'm convinced that you will make a right decision.

Yours truly,

Li hua

概要写作（满分 25 分）

One possible version

Gene technology is now a hot topic worldwide.(要点 1)It can help people cure deadly diseases and allow them to live a happier and longer life with better economic conditions, (要点 2) Gene technology also makes it possible for people with genetic diseases to give birth to healthy babies. (要点 3) However, some people are concerned that gene technology will be largely used in human cloning while others don't see it as a problem. (要点 4)

附件 听力原文

Text 1

W: Max, you wanted to ask me something?

M: Yes, Professor Jones. I'm applying to this university in Singapore. I was hoping you could recommend me.

Text 2

M: Just look at today's paper. Nothing but accidents or gossip(流言飞语).

W: Right. Nothing is worth reading.

Text 3

W: What else should we get for the party?

M: This fried chicken looks delicious, and it's 30% off.

W: But if we wait till 7: 00, they'll discount it to half price.

M: Great. Let's buy it at 7 o'clock.

Text 4

W: That was a great movie. The special effects were cool.

M: I really liked the story and the acting.

W: Me, too. But the movie could have been a bit shorter.

Text 5

M: Miss, this is my first flight. I wonder if you could show me the ropes(向某人演示如何做某事)?

W: Don't be embarrassed! Everyone has to make his first flight sometime. I'd be glad to. That's what we are here for.

Text 6

M: Hi. I booked a tour to Paris, but I won't be able to go because I can't get time off from work.

W: Do you need to cancel your tour or just change the dates?

M: ⑥I'd like to cancel. Can I get my money back?

W: ⑦Yes, but I'm afraid we can only give you a 50% refund. That's $650.

M: That's fine.

Text 7

W: ⑧Dan, I heard you're a Baytown Stars fan. I didn't know that you liked ice hockey(冰球).

M: Yeah, I am. I don't go to many of their games, but I watch them on TV.

W: I've always wanted to see a professional ice hockey game.

M: ⑨If you go, bring lots of money because tickets aren't cheap. I can only afford to take my kids to one or two games a year.

Text 8

M: What's the matter?

W: It's just life. It's all right for you. You'll leave the house in five minutes. I'll be here all day. (10)You won't come home till seven o'clock.

M: One of us must go to work, dear.

W: (12)Yes, but your day is interesting. My day is the same every day.

M: My work isn't always interesting.

W: I know, but you travel around, you meet different people and you do different things. Who will I meet today? What will I do? (12)Er, I'll wash up, feed the baby, do the washing, clean the house, bathe the baby and walk the dog.

M: But...But...dear.

W: (12)Then I'll feed the baby again, put the baby to bed. What a life!

Text 9

M: (13)Sara, it's going to be a wonderful day for hiking in the woods tomorrow. The old pine forest is home to many wild animals. We might spot some deer if we are lucky. I have been looking forward to our summer vacation.

W: Yeah, but Paul, I'm a little bit worried about the weather though. (14)The weatherman said it was going to rain tonight.

M: Ah. Nonsense. Nothing can spoil our adventure. Those weather reports are never right.

W: Paul, Paul! (15)Did you remember to bring our raincoats just in case, like I told you?

M: Here they are. And I brought two extra pairs of boots just in case it gets really wet in the forest.

W: Hiking in the forest right after the rain isn't pleasant. The ground will be really wet and muddy.

M: We can do other things like fishing.

W: Good idea. We always enjoy fishing.

M: Let's set up a tent first and then build a campfire tonight.

W: Here are some hot dogs and bread I brought from home. Let's have that for dinner.

M: Great! I will have some beer as well.

W: What if it rains tonight? Camping would be impossible.

M: (16)Hmm, then we'd better stay in a hotel tonight. There is one just 15 minutes away from here.

W: (16)That's a good idea.

Text 10

W: (17)When we lived in Japan many years ago, my American friend Jane came to visit us with her Japanese boss, who wanted to meet my husband. After he left, we decided to open the gift that he had brought. Surprisingly, it was a neatly packed live lobster. I started laughing and shouting, "It's alive! It's alive!" (18)But Jane, who'd just gone to the bathroom, thought I was yelling, "It's a lie! It's a lie!" She thought we were having an argument, so she was afraid to come back into the living room. When she finally returned, she realized that we were not fighting, but laughing at such an unexpected gift.

We had never cooked a lobster before, so we didn't know what to do. In those days there was no Internet to get information, (19)so we went and asked a neighbor. Meanwhile, we had put the lobster in a sink full of water. When we came back home, the lobster had become so lively that we no longer had the heart to cook it. (20)We managed to get it back into the box, and we gave it to the neighbor instead.