

浙江省十校联盟 2020 届高三寒假返校联考

英语参考答案

听力答案:

1—5 BCCBC      6—10 CBABA      11—15 ACBCB      16—20 BACBA

阅读理解:

21-23 BDC      24-26 CAD      27-30 ADCB      31-35 GCAFD

36-40 BADAC      41-45 DBBCA      46-50 ADCDB      51-55 ABCAD

语法填空答案:

56. To celebrate      57. various      58. construction      59. the      60. has witnessed

61. that/who      62. which      63. for      64. made      65. Hopefully

应用文参考范文:

Dear Mr.Green,

I'm writing to recommend myself for the position of Chairman of the Students' Union.

Having been monitor of my class for 3 years, I am responsible, honest and selfless. Besides, my determination to succeed has led me to excel in my class. Despite my busy schedule, I can always strike a balance between work and study. Thus, my grades have always been at the top.

Due to my academic knowledge and organizational ability, I believe I will be an excellent candidate for the position. I sincerely hope my recommendation will be favorably considered.

Yours sincerely,

Li Hua

概要写作参考范文

Recently, e-cigarettes, which have gained growing popularity among the youth, have been banned from sale online in China. Therefore, sales of e-cigarettes have been shut down by the sellers in answer to the notice. Fake messages in the advertisements are misleading the young, claiming that e-cigarettes with various flavors are healthy, stylish and cheap. Actually, so harmful are e-cigarettes that the young should stay away from them. (67 words)

听力文本

Text 1

M: Do you know where our apartment key is? It's not under the mat where it usually is.

W: Try looking above the door.

M: I found it! It was under the flower pot.

Text 2

W: Look at my new car!

M: That's not a car. It's a toy, and you're still taking the bus to school.

W: Well, it's a model of the car I'm going to buy when I get my first job. It helps me want to work harder.

Text 3

W: I heard the manager made a notice this morning. Do you know what it was about?

M: It's about Tom. He's being switched to the research center.

Text 4

W: Oh, no. The lights went out again. I wish we had a flashlight or a candle.

M: The flashlight is out of batteries, but I have a candle and matches right here.

W: Great! Now I can finish reading this book.

Text 5

W: Do you invite your assistant to events outside of work?

M: Absolutely. Kelly and I are very close, and my wife and I know her husband very well, too.

W: Wonderful. She probably loves her job because of that. And it helps you two have an even closer working relationship.

Text 6

W: I have had a problem with the person living one floor above me. He wakes up at 6:00 a.m. and walks around loudly. It wakes me up every morning.

M: I understand. People here are usually respectful of each other. It usually doesn't become a problem after a short conversation.

W: Well, I have spoken to this person before, and he just told me, "Too bad!"

M: Oh, that is unacceptable. I will speak to him on your behalf. Don't worry.

W: Thank you. I also still need some repairs done on the bathroom sink when you get a chance.

M: I'll send someone over to look at it right away.

Text 7

M: What time is it, Harriet? I'm starving, but I guess it's not time for lunch yet.

W: Let's see...according to my iPhone, it's just a few minutes past noon.

M: What? I thought my watch was wrong. Shouldn't the sun be overhead if it's noon?

W: Oh, Don. I can tell you weren't listening in science class last week. The sun is only overhead at noon for two days a year.

M: Ha-ha. Very funny.

W: No, really. Mrs. Sorenson explained it. The earth goes around the sun at an angle, and that changes where the sun is at noon.

M: But...then those old clocks that measured time by the sun's shadow are all wrong?

W: Umm, not exactly. They're just not the same as the time we keep on our computers.

M: I wish I were sitting at a computer right now instead of out here. I'm starting to hate nature.

Text 8

W: So, what do you think we should do for our wedding anniversary? Should we stay at a hotel somewhere or go hiking in the mountains?

M: I'm too old to go hiking. Let's have a barbecue in a park.

W: Since the weather is supposed to be nice, why don't we stay at a hotel with an outdoor swimming pool?

M: That's a good idea. I know of a reasonably priced hotel with a swimming pool that's just a block away from Hyde Park.

W: That's an excellent location! It must be one of the only hotels with an outdoor swimming pool in the heart of London!

M: They're also known for their huge breakfasts that keep you going all day.

W: We can eat breakfast in the hotel and then spend the rest of the day by the pool.

M: Should I call them to make a reservation?

W: You might as well see if they have any vacant rooms. Do they take credit cards?

M: Let me just check their website to find out first.

W: OK.

Text 9

M: You were late for the monthly meeting today, Anna. Please be at work on time for the next one. The meetings are important to attend.

W: I'm sorry, Mr. Smith. I thought the meeting started at eight in the morning. When did it start?

M: We changed the time last month. Now the meetings start at seven. You were one hour late. You missed half of it. You need to go talk to one of your co-workers and find out what you missed. Ask your friend Jack. He was at the meeting.

W: I will, Mr. Smith. I apologize again.

M: Thank you for apologizing. But it was an important meeting. We discussed some big changes in our business. If you are late again, I will have to punish you. I will give some of your work to Jack. That means you won't be able to make as much money.

W: I understand, sir. I won't let it happen again. This job is very important to me. I promise I won't let you down again. I will go ask Jack now what I missed at the meeting.

M: Okay, good. I know you can do better next time, Anna.

Text 10

Good news or bad news? It depends on how you see things. You can be bitter after being cheated. Or you can choose to move on with your life...

Robert De Vincenzo, the great Argentine golfer, once won a tournament and, after receiving the check and smiling for the cameras, he went to the clubhouse and prepared to leave. Some time later, he walked alone to his car in the parking lot and was approached by a young woman. She congratulated him on his victory and then told him that her child was seriously ill. She did not know how she could pay the hospital bills. De Vincenzo was touched by her story, and he gave the winning check to the woman. The next week he was having lunch in a country club when a Professional Golf Association official came to his table. "Some of the boys in the parking lot told me you met a young woman there after you won that tournament." De Vincenzo nodded. "Well," said the official, "she's a cheat. She has no sick baby. She's not even married. She cheated you, my friend." "You mean there is no baby dying?" said De Vincenzo, "That's the best news I've heard all week."