第二节: 读后续写

I fought back tears as I walked up to Mrs. B. “Why...?” I started. Sensing my unwillingness, she gently placed a hand on my shoulder. “I know what you want, Karina,” she said, “but your group needs you. I need you to help them get a passing grade on this assignment. Only you can help them.” I was stunned and amazed. Mrs. B had seen something in me I hadn't seen. “Will you help them?” she asked. I stood straighter. “Yes,” I replied. I couldn't believe it came out of my mouth, but it did. I committed.

I bravely walked to where the others in my groups sat. Ignoring the laughter from my friends, I sat down and we started. Different newspaper columns were assigned according to interests. Halfway through the project, I felt I was given a chance to see these people in a new light. Mauro was struggling with English. Juliette kept wearing long skirts only for her religion. Rachel, who had requested to do the fashion column, wanted to be a fashion designer. They weren't misfits, just people that no one cared enough about to try to understand. Finally, Mrs. B gave our assignment an A, which, I think, should have been handed right back to Mrs. B, who is always tapping students' potential.

录音稿

(Text 1)

M: Susan, have you lost weight?

W: Yes. I started going to the gym a few months ago.

M: Do you go every day?

W: No. They say you need to go three times a week, but I just go on Mondays and Fridays.

(Text 2)

W: Can I get you anything else tonight? Some dessert or coffee?

M: No, thank you. Just the check, please.

W: Here you are. I hope you enjoyed your dinner. Come back soon.

(Text 3)

M: I finally finished the meeting with the new boss. It took ages.

W: Oh, is he the one I saw this morning with a beard?

M: No, he doesn't have one. He wears some pretty cool sunglasses with a light-colored suit.

(Text 4)

W: Are you studying for the math exam on the 26th?

M: Yes, I am studying for the exam but they have changed the date. They made it a day earlier.

Didn't you see the noticeboard?

W: No, I've been away for two days.

(Text 5)

M: Look! You forgot to send the invitation to Steve, didn't you?

W: But you know Anna doesn't like him very much.

(Text 6)

M: Right! Let's get this shopping done. Have you got the list?

W: Yes, but I don't want to get the bread from the supermarket as it's much nicer from the bakery.

M: OK.

W: And we mustn't forget to go into the sweet shop to get grandma's favorite chocolates, and a fruit cake for her birthday.

M: In that case, first stop needs to be the bakery as they always sell out of bread quite early and we can go to the sweet shop on the way home.

W: OK. I've got the shopping bags. Let's go.

(Text 7)

M: Did you get the job, Mary?

W: Well, I went for an interview. The woman who interviewed me was very nice, but she certainly asked a lot of questions. She asked me where I lived, what I was studying at college, if I had finished college, what my last job had been ...

M: Did you tell her about the time when you worked in the Science Museum?

W: Yes, I told her that I had worked there for two years. Then she asked me if I was over eighteen.

M: Well, there's no problem there. What else did she want to know?

W: Then she asked me if I had a driver's license and if I had any driving experience. I told her that I was a good driver. And finally she asked me if I could start immediately.

M: Wow, so you got the job.

(Text 8)

M: Amanda, could you make a call to the cinema to see if there are still some seats left for the movie this afternoon?

W: I've already booked tickets online for the two o'clock movie. I'm thinking of picking them up from the ticket office on the way to the restaurant. What do you think?

M: OK. Well, the Smiths want to move our appointment forward by a half hour earlier. That means we should be there at 11:30.

W: Then we don't have enough time. We'd better get moving. Oh, before I forget, can you remind me to stop by the bookstore on the way back home? I have to order a book there.

M: OK.

(Text 9)

W: Look. I just got a postcard from my friend Helen. She's on vacation in Canada. I wish I worked in a travel agency as well.

M: Oh, yeah, Canada is great! Wait! Why do you still have a postcard for your uncle?

W: Oh, well, you know, I went to Australia three years ago. I have lots of postcards that I wrote to my family and friends while I was there. But I was so busy — camping and climbing — that I forgot to send them! So, I brought them home with me.

M: That's crazy! It only takes a second to drop them in the mailbox.

W: You know, I spent days in the countryside and it seemed there were more kangaroos than mailboxes.

M: Ha, I guess that's a good excuse. Anyway, I'm going on vacation to Hawaii soon.

W: That's great! So, how much vacation time do you get?

M: Well, I'm a photographer. If I want to take a vacation, I just tell my customers I'm leaving town.

W: That's cool.

(Text 10)

M: And now let's go over to today's traffic and travel news. Now the sun is high in the sky, but the heavy rain with the strong wind in the morning caused problems on the M3. Four cars hit each other and because of that, there were long delays between London and Guildford. It doesn't look very good on the M4. A lorry broke down near Swindon about three hours ago and there was a huge traffic jam half an hour later. Peter from Bristol just called 876632 to say that there is a queue now. So if you need to get to Swindon this evening, you'd better go on the main road — the A429. The M1 is looking a lot better today. There were no delays when I last checked, which is great for anyone who is going to the big music festival in Leeds tomorrow.

Unusually there aren't any problems on the trains today. If you are going away this weekend, lots of trains are working normally, so check before you go. If you are flying from Gatwick airport, please phone your airline before you set off. The computer systems at the airport weren't working this morning and many flights were canceled today. Jackie and Bob phoned to say their flight to India was delayed by over twelve hours and they had to check into a hotel near the airport for the night. But I'm pleased to see that they've boarded their plane now and are on their way.
