第二节：读后续写

Suddenly Blake slowed and sat onto the ground painfully. Then I hurried up and ran up to him, only to find that his ankle was twisted badly. I tried to help him stand and move forward, but he refused. He asked me to run after the others so that I could get the first place. I thought for a second and decided to accompany him for a rest. Then we ran slowly forward together. Although we ran slowly and were overtaken by others, I felt relaxed and we finally crossed the finish line together.

A reporter took a picture of this moving scene and posted it online. During the time, the photo got a lot of likes. Many strangers sent the emails to praise me about the incident. In fact, I was a little hesitant at the beginning, but the moment I decided to help Blake, I felt calm and relaxed with birds singing on the trees and the soft wind brushing my cheeks. I'm happy that I did the right thing.

【解析】

【导语】本文以人物为线索展开，讲述了作者参加跑步赛跑，一开始跑的很轻松，后来遇到Blake，决定和他一起跑，但是后来作者想超过他，所以作者紧紧地跟在他后面跑，但是越跑越困难，但是作者仍然没有放弃希望，继续追赶他。

【详解】1.段落续写：

①由第一段首句内容“突然，布莱克慢了下来，痛苦地坐在地上。”可知，第一段可描写Blake腿抽筋，我决定帮助他和他一起跑向终点。②由第二段首句内容“一位记者拍下了这动人的一幕，并把它传到了网上。”可知，第二段可描写作者受到很多人的赞扬，非常开心自己做了一件正确的事情。

2.续写线索：帮助——陪着一起走——到达终点——受到赞扬——感悟

听力文本

(Text 1)

M: A present? People always take flowers and it's also rather hot for chocolates. Let's get something a bit different. What about some unbreakable glasses they can all use outside?

W: Good idea. Let's get some.

(Text 2)

M: I've lost a button on my favorite shirt. If it was the one on my pocket you wouldn't notice, but on the collar it's different.

W: Why don't you take one off your sleeve and use that?

(Text 3)

W: Would you like to see the newly released film with me? It will start at 2:30 pm.

M: OK. I'll finish my report at about 2:00 pm. Maybe we can meet ten minutes before it starts.

W: Great. See you then.

(Text 4)

W: Do you have a bigger dress?

M: I'm sorry. We don't have a bigger one in black. We have some green ones in your size.

Would you please have a look?

W: Oh, look at the pink dress. I'll try it on.

(Text 5)

W: Hello, this is the Airport Customer Service Center. Can I help you?

M: Yes, I wanted to reconfirm my flight and I called the airline. But I couldn't communicate with them in English. They spoke only in Spanish. So I need your help.

(Text 6)

M: You'd better decide which university course you're going to do, Julia.

W: I'd love to do business studies, but my friend Anna said it sounds so boring.

M: What's she going to study?

W: Film studies. It does look exciting.

M: But you should choose what you really like.

W: You're probably right. But I find it difficult to decide.

M: Well, what about considering economics? That might interest you more.

W: I have never thought of that. I'll go and look up some information on the Internet right away.

You're such a help. Thanks.

(Text 7)

W: There's a soap opera that comes on at 6:00 pm and it lasts for about an hour.

M: Oh good.

W: And then there's a football game at 7:00 pm. I want to see that.

M: Just a minute - what time will it finish? The last part of that comedy will be on another channel at 8:45 pm.

W: Well, the football game will end at 8:30 pm.

M: There will be fifteen minutes for me.

W: You'll probably take a walk by then.

M: No, I won't. I am going to look through a newspaper before it starts.

(Text 8)

W: Well, did you finally move out of your parents' house?

M: No, I just found out that I only need to take three more classes to finish, so I'm graduating in the summer.

W: That's cool. There are five classes for me to finish. What classes do you have left?

M: I have two business classes and a Spanish class.

W: Sounds great. So, what are you going to do with your finance degree after you graduate?

M: Well, that's still up in the air. My dad owns a computer software company, and he needs help in the accounting department. And if I don't do that, I might go back to school and get an MBA.

(Text 9)

W: Have you ever worked as a tour guide?

M: I have a little experience. I guided a few foreign tourists around Beijing last year as a part-time job.

W: Then you may know that it is a hard job.

M: Yes. A friend of mine is a guide. He talked with me about his work, but I don't mind. I enjoy the process.

W: Have you ever applied to any other companies?

M: No, this is my first. Well, I'm impressed with what the company has done in the past few years and it will be lucky for me to be one member of it.

W: Is there anything you want to ask about?

M: I'd like to be an overseas tour guide someday. Would there ever be any chance of that?

W: Certainly. There will be a good chance of that if you work for this company. You may go overseas with a tour group. Any other questions?

M: Yes. When can I get the decision?

W: It's refreshing to interview someone who is sure of what he wants. We'll get in touch with you within a week. Thank you for coming today, Mr. Sun.

M: Thank you.

(Text 10)

Welcome to our new show, Colorful Animal Kingdom: a program introducing animals to the young and old. In today's show, I will talk about how to raise bearded dragons. Bearded dragons originate from the deserts of Australia, and this is one of several species that survive in that climate. Today, beardies like this one are fed here in the US. First, you need to have the right supplies: a cage or something like that, a UV bulb, branches and rocks to climb on and rest on, a food or water dish, and something to line the bottom of the cage. You can even take them outside three times a week in the direct sunlight. Then it comes to the dietary needs of a bearded dragon. They mainly eat insects, vegetables and the leaves of plants. Well, since bearded dragons traditionally live in dry regions, they obtain most of their water naturally from what they eat. You have to be sure to feed them plenty of vegetables that serve as good carriers of water.
