第二节

One possible version:

Several minutes later, the ice broke suddenly and Harry's feet sank into the water. It was not deep, but his legs got wet to the knees. Harry was so upset that the accident would delay his schedule. He had to find some firewood to build a fire to dry his clothes. He pulled off his gloves, took out his matches, and lighted the fire. Seeing the burning fire, he had thought he was safe. But suddenly, without warning, a heavy mass of snow dropped down. The flame of hope was put out.

Unluckily, his dog ran away and the fear of death came over Harry. He had no choice but to run to save himself. However, he did not feel his feet when they hit the ground. Having fallen several times, he decided to rest a while. As he lay in the snow, he noticed he was not shaking. He could not feel his nose or fingers or feet. A feeling of horror came into his mind. It was when he realized he was going to die that he heard a bark and the noise his friends made.

Text 1

M: Great work, Maria! That's the most beautiful painting I've seen from you. (1) You really thought about this one.

W: I actually based it on a photograph that my dad took in our kitchen. He loved old pots and pans.

Text 2

M: Wow, this view is amazing! I was pretty nervous in the beginning, (2) but once I got used to the air up here, I felt myself getting stronger and stronger.

W: Yeah, you did great! I'm so proud of you for making it up this mountain.

Text 3

M: Can you come in early tomorrow? Sherry is sick, and I don't have anyone else in the sales department that can cover for her on the schedule. (3)

W: No problem, Mr. Johnson. Let me just cancel my doctor's appointment.

Text 4

W: I have finished cleaning the floors and put all the goods in order on the shelf. So I'm going to leave. Remember to count all the money, shut off the lights, and lock up when you leave. (4)

M: Don't worry. I got it.

Text 5

W: Where did I put my wallet? I'm sure I took it inside with me from the car. Is it on that table under those books?

M: No, but I see something on the bed under those clothes...

W: There it is! (5)

Text 6

M: This park is so big! Will we have enough time to see it all in one day?

W: Of course we will. We'll rent these bikes, and ride them around the park. (6)

M: How long will that take? Two hours?

W: No way! About half the time. Then we will drop the bikes off, and walk to the fish zoo. It should take us another hour to see everything.

M: What about lunch?

W: We'll take a thirty-minute boat ride to the other side of the lake. (7) There is a restaurant there.

M: Sounds like a good plan. Let's go!

Text 7

M: Hi, I'm calling about the ad in the paper. (8) Is the computer still for sale? (9)

W: Yes, it is. Are you interested?

M: I searched for the product online and I know the asking price. I was just hoping you could come down a bit in price.

W: Well, how about this? I have a few other things for sale. If you buy more than one thing, I'll give you a better price.

M: What do you have?

W: I've also got a washing machine, a sofa, and a TV for sale.

M: Hmm. The TV sounds interesting. Does it work well?

W: Yes. The only reason we're getting rid of it is that we won a new one from a radio station last month. (10)

M: Would it be all right if I came over to look at it?

W: Sure. Can you come over tonight after dinner?

M: That sounds good.

Text 8

M: Do you think you can get off work a little early tonight? I was hoping to get to the restaurant around five tonight. (10)

W: I don't know if that's possible. I have too many deliveries. (11)

M: That's too bad. It's Thursday today, so everything is half price before six.

W: Well...I might be able to get off work early, but I would need you to do me a favor.

M: Just name it.

W: I have two deliveries between four-thirty and five o'clock. (11) One is on Linton by the museum, and the other is on Mayflower by the bakery. If you do one delivery, I'll do the other.

M: Sure, but you have to do me a favor in return. (12)

W: What is it?

M: I need you to help me pick out a birthday gift for my girlfriend. (12) You can stop by my house at three o'clock on Sunday. I live on Birch Street across from the bank.

W: Well, I guess that's only fair...

M: So we have a deal?

W: Deal.

Text 9

M: Hello, do you remember me? I bought some glass plates from you yesterday.

W: Yes, you sent them to London...no, to Paris, right?

M: That's right. I thought I'd come back to buy some more souvenirs.

W: What did you have in mind?

M: Well, first, I'd like to buy a few postcards. My sister always used to send a postcard to herself whenever she went anywhere. I want to do that, too. (14)

W: We have plenty of postcards to choose from here.

M: OK. I heard that you might also have some of the masks that are made here in Venice. (15)

W: Yes, we do. They're on the wall behind you.

M: How much do they cost?

W: The prices are clearly marked on the back of each mask. (16) Would you like me to get one down for you to look at?

M: Yes, I think I'd like the green mask in the middle.

W: Here you go.

M: I'll take this one. I'd also like to buy some chocolate. (17) It's my girlfriend's birthday today, and she loves chocolate.

W: We've got plenty to choose from here. (17)

M: They look delicious. I think she'll be pleased!
