(like or not, reasons, whether to recommend or not)

Read For Basic Information

Sample1

I have read a story called “The Stone In The Road”. It is a fable, where the king wanted to test his villagers' response to trouble by putting a stone in the road, under which were some gold coins.

Sample2

The story, “The Stone In The Road”, is a fable. In the fable, to test the villagers' response to trouble, the king put a stone with some gold coins under it, in the road.

Sample3

“The Stone in the Road” is an old fable about a king who thinks his people are lazy, so he puts a large stone in the middle of the road and hides and waits to see if anyone will try to move it.

Read For Analysis

Sample1

The author described villagers' response clearly in the story to improve people's sense of responsibility and courage to accept challenges. I think the story was quite successful in achieving its purpose, and I have learned a lot from it.

Sample2

With the aim of improving people's sense of responsibility and courage to accept challenges in life, the author described different response to the stone clearly. I have the belief in its success due to the comparison between the reponse of the girl and the others, from which I have learned a lot.

Discussion

Sample

In my opinion, the “stone” in the story refers to the difficulties and challenges in our life, the “milkman” and the “woman” refer to those who don't care for others, while the “girl” refers to people who are responsible for others with a positive attitude to life. I believe I belong to the latter. I used to meet a moral dilemma where I had to make a choice whether to help the woman on the ground or not, and I chose to help, because I thought it was our responsibility to help people who are in need. And I will persist in my choice for the reason that an individual can also make a difference, making the world a better place.

milkman, woman: passive, indifferent...
girl: responsible, positive, caring...
