

宁波市 2019 学年第二学期高考适应性考试

英语参考答案

第一部分 听力 (共二节, 满分 30 分; 每题 1.5 分)

1-5 CBAAC

6-10 ACBBC

11-15 AABAC

16-20 BCABB

第二部分 阅读理解 (共两节, 满分 35 分)

第一节 (共 10 小题; 每小题 2.5 分, 满分 25 分)

21-23 DCC

24-26 CBB

27-30 BBDA

第二节 (共 5 小题, 每小题 2 分, 满分 10 分)

31-35 CFDAE

第三部分 语言运用 (共两节, 满分 45 分)

第一节 完形填空 (共 20 小题; 每小题 1.5 分, 满分 30 分)

36-40 CBDAC

41-45 DABDC

46-50 BACDB

51-55 ADBCA

第二节 (共 10 小题; 每小题 1.5 分, 满分 15 分)

56. unexpected

57. Thankfully

58. cleaning

59. when

60. to find

61. lucky

62. photos

63. to

64. have been

65. it

第四部分 写作 (共两节, 满分 40 分)

第一节 应用文写作 (满分 15 分)

One possible version:

Dear Mr. James,

Learning that you are looking for someone to teach your 8-year-old son Chinese, I am writing to recommend my friend Wang Ming.

Discipline and diligence makes Wang Ming one of the top students in the class. Being good at Chinese and English, he once won the first place in our school speech competition. Besides, he is easy-going and willing to help others. In short, I am convinced that he is an ideal candidate.

I would be appreciative if you could consider my recommendation favorably.

Yours sincerely,

Li Hua

第二节: 读后续写 (满分 25 分)

One possible version:

Paragraph 1:

The next day, Emily nervously glanced at the list on the door of the choral room. She was not rejected this time. Her name was posted at the top of the list. She, Emily White, was chosen to be the leading singer! She would sing alone in the performance. Emily couldn't believe her eyes. There must be some mistake. But Mr. Buttler said to her with determined eyes, "Emily, I choose you because you should perform the part – your voice is unusual. Believe in yourself." Greatly encouraged, Emily practiced really hard.

Paragraph 2:

Finally, the day of performance came. Standing in front of the line, Emily felt her throat tight and her palms sweating. When the curtain opened up, the eyes of the whole audience fell upon Emily. “Emily White!” Someone whispered. Then, along with the first note of music, Emily began to sing her heart out. Her voice was like a nightingale ringing in the auditorium. Applause! Emily felt so happy and comfortable. She was shining on the stage. Emily White, with so many birth problems in her body, was an angel!

听力原文:

Text 1

W: Time for bed!

M: Oh, Mom! We were having such a good time. Can't we just watch for another while?

W: No more TV! You have to brush your teeth and go to bed. (1) We can't have you falling asleep in class tomorrow!

Text 2

M: Why did you miss class yesterday, Janet? We were looking forward to your presentation.

W: Yesterday? I was preparing yesterday, I'm here to give the presentation today. I spent all day Tuesday preparing it. (2)

M: Um, Janet? Today is Thursday...

Text 3

W: Have you got any hobbies, Chase?

M: Yes, I collected stamps and old match boxes. (3) What about you, Samantha?

W: I want to learn to ski, but I'm too busy writing this book in my spare time.

Text 4

M: I've looked everywhere for the sign-up sheet for next week's field trip. Have you seen it, Matilda? (4)

W: I saw it yesterday, but I'm not sure where it is now. And I don't know whether I'll be able to join you.

Text 5

M: Did you read the news on Facebook? It says bees will be extinct in the next ten years.

W: You probably shouldn't be looking to Facebook to get news. There is a lot of fake information on it. (5)

M: That's true, but it's more accurate than a lot of websites.

Text 6

W: What are you drinking, Johnny? I hope it's not a soda. You know Coke is bad for you.

M: I often drink Coke, but this is tea.

W: Tea is better than Coke, at least.

M: What's wrong with Coke? (6) I like it.

W: It's full of sugar. And most people forget it also has caffeine in it. (6)

M: I thought Coke was a cure for headaches. (7)

W: It started out as a medicine a hundred years ago. (7) But the substances in it are different, and it's just an unhealthy drink now.

M: Well, good thing I'm drinking tea, then, Margaret.

W: What about drinking water? That's the best drink if you're really thirsty.

Text 7

W: This is beautiful. Are we setting up camping here, or are we going to follow the trail down to the river?

M: Let's rest here for a bit. I told the others to meet us here so we could take advantage of the view, but we should go down to the river to put up the tents. (8)

W: How did you find out about this place? (9) It seems pretty far away from towns. You could get lost if you didn't know where you were going.

M: My dad used to live near here. When I was young, my uncle took me and my brother to his cabin, and we used to fish there. (9)

W: Why don't we just sleep there, then?

M: It's abandoned, so there's nothing there. By the way, did you bring the water up from the car?

W: No, I thought you brought it. Now we have to go back down to the car!

M: Cool down. The river flowing all around us is a clean water source. (10)

W: What was that noise? Oh, Scott... I don't have a good feeling about this...

M: It's probably the other guys on the trail. Unless it's a monster...

W: Stop joking around!

Text 8

W: So, the big day is coming up. I remember the first time I took my driver's test. (11) They'll probably take you down the exact same route as they took me when I was young.

M: There's just so much information to remember. As if remembering all the signs wasn't enough, I have to remember to check my side mirrors every eight seconds, all the while changing lanes and maintaining the speed limit. (11)

W: Don't think about all of it at once, sweetie. I promise that once you start driving, it all falls into place. Plus, you have been driving for the past couple of months with me. I think you'll do fine.

M: Yeah, but you know how bad I am at parking.

W: That is just one part of the test. (11) Just remember not to speed. They take off a lot of points when you do that, especially if it is in a school zone. They will probably take you down Blue Mountain Road, because the speed limit changes as you go past the school. (13)

M: Oh, I don't know if I can do this...

Text 9

M: What is that noise? How can you study in here, Vivian? (14)

W: Sorry, Dad. I like to listen to loud music when I study. It helps me concentrate. (14)

M: Well, it's a little too loud, isn't it? You'll get us kicked out of our apartment if you keep playing your music that loud.

W: Come on, don't be silly! Anyway, I thought I had my headphones plugged in...there, is that better? (15)

M: It definitely sounds better out here, but what about in those earphones? Do you still have the music turned all the way up?

W: Well, yes. It helps me study.

M: It might help you study, but it will ruin your hearing. (16) Do you want to be one of those people walking around with a hearing aid before you're forty?

W: Of course not. But is it really that dangerous?

M: It is. I was reading an article about this a few days ago. The sounds in the city are so much louder than humans are built to tolerate. All these loud noises combined together contribute to stress, hearing loss, and even heart attacks.

W: If that's true, it's more serious than I thought. (17)

M: I just want you to take care of yourself.

W: OK. I'm turning down the volume now.

Text 10

Since the first Great Wall Marathon in 1999, the race has become known as one of the world's most challenging marathons. (18) Participants can choose three-distances: the full marathon, a half marathon, and an 8.5-kilometer Fun Run. What is the race like? Competitors will enjoy the spectacular scenery of the Great Wall. When the run seems to be endless, look for signs placed every kilometer of the course. They are color-coded by distance so runners will know how far they have come.

If you get thirsty along the way, look for water stations every four kilometers. (19) You will also find energy drinks, bananas, and wet towels to help you cool down. If you need anything else during your run, you can leave it at the station before the race. There are a few rules for runners. Please keep to the right and make way for faster runners. The route is not closed to traffic, so be very careful about cars. (20) And if you run into trouble, don't worry. A medical team will be available at each water station to make sure all your needs are met.