第四部分：写作（共两节，满分 40 分）

第一节应用文写作（满分 15 分）

Possible Version:

Dear Sir or Madam,

Having learnt on the Internet that an English news reporter is needed in your office, I'm writing to apply for the position.

Having been actively involved in the news gathering and writing, I have published several articles in the school English newspaper, which helps me accumulate rich experience. Besides, not only can my good command of English help me communicate well with interviewees from all walks of life, but also it enables me to be proficient in English writing.

I shall be much obliged if you could take my application into account.

Yours,

Li Hua

第二节概要写作（满分 25 分）

Possible Version:

Nowadays, an increasing number of young girls in South Korea wear makeup to look beautiful. (要 1) It has been revealed that social media which frequently show images of the makeup fashion in young children are mainly to blame. (要 2) It might lead young children to care too much about appearances and suffer negative feelings about their looks once without makeup. (要 3、4) Therefore, Davis suggests girls not wear makeup too early and value the natural beauty. (要 5) 72w

听力原文

Text 1

W: Excuse me. I'm looking for the fruit section. Can you tell me where it is? (1)

M: Sure. It's in the front of the store, right next to the dessert row and behind the magazines.

Text 2

W: I can't find my purse and I'm late! (2) Have you seen it anywhere? I already checked the bedroom.

M: No, I haven't. Did you check your car? It was there last time.

Text 3

M: I won't be able to come to your wedding. (3) My new job starts the week before, and I can't take any time off.

W: I understand. We'll miss you!

Text 4

M: Do you know why I pulled you over?

W: Yes. I forgot to use my turn signal. I'm really sorry.

M: Actually, your brake lights are out. (4) I won't give you a ticket for your turn signal, but I do expect you to get your lights fixed.

Text 5

W: Why are you so late? We finished dinner thirty minutes ago.

M: I'm so sorry. I took a nap after work and completely overslept. (5) I brought ice cream and cookies, though!

Text 6

M: I'm not feeling well. I need to sit down.

W: Let me bring you a chair.

M: Thanks. I felt sick all of a sudden.

W: Did you eat breakfast this morning? (6)

M: I did. I made it myself. I went for a long run as well. Maybe that's it. I usually run three miles in the morning, but today, I ran six. (6)

W: I'll get you a glass of water. Here you go. (7)

M: Thank you. I'm feeling better already.

W: It's hot in here, too. I'll open a few windows. Would you like me to get you anything else?

M: No, I think I'll be fine. The fresh air feels good.

Text 7

W: Have you seen a little boy? He's about three feet tall and he's wearing red shorts and a white shirt. He's two years old. (8)

M: No, I'm sorry. Is he your son or little brother?

W: I'm just taking care of him. He was right here next to the milk with me a second ago. This is my first day with him and we've only been together for five hours! I can't believe this is happening.

M: Have you looked in all the different sections?

W: Yes. I can't find him anywhere.

M: All right. You keep looking for him, and I'll go up to the front of the store to see if they can make an announcement for the entire store.

W: There he is! He's hiding in the fruit section. (9)

Text 8

M: I just read an article in the paper about a plan to make the ocean a quieter place for sea animals.

W: What do you mean? The ocean is loud?

M: It's very loud. There are ships with loud motors, and others that drill for oil and gas that are extremely loud. There's so much noise beneath the waves that animals are starting to react poorly. (10) They can't communicate with each other anymore, find proper food, or stay away from dangers. Studies have even shown that whales don't recognize the sounds of boats anymore and don't know to stay away from them.

W: Wow, I've never even thought about that before. So, what's going to happen?

M: Well, the National Oceanic Administration has created the Ocean Noise Strategy Roadmap. So far, it's a ten-year plan to reduce ocean noise. (11) I guess they haven't announced specific ideas yet, but it's a step in the right direction. (12)

Text 9

W: What did you make for dinner? It smells really good in here.

M: You're in for a treat! I made fish in green sauce, potato chips, a peach salad, and sweet rice. (13)

W: Wow. It all sounds so fancy!

M: I've been practicing my cooking skills recently, so I decided to make us something restaurant-worthy tonight.

W: I'm excited. Can I set the table? (14)

M: Sure, thanks. (14) I'm just finishing up everything, so if you could pour us some drinks as well, that would be great.

W: Do you want lemonade, water, or soda?

M: Lemonade is fine with me. How was your day?

W: It was good. I'm tired, though. I didn't sleep very well last night. I think I'm getting sick.

M: Oh, no. Well, you can go to bed early tonight. Make sure to drink plenty of water. Maybe you should take some vitamin C. The pills should be good for you. (15)

W: I will. Oh, it looks like we're out of lemonade.

M: I'll just have a soda, then. (16) How much rice do you want?

W: A lot! I want a lot of everything!

M: Coming right up.

Text 10

This is Ted Brinkman with the 6:00 news report. Today, there was an accident involving a motorcycle, a truck, and a car on Highway 17 near the Broadway exit. (17) Traffic was stopped for over an hour as emergency workers cleared the freeway. Luckily, only two people had to go to the hospital, and it's looking like they're going to be fine. Please be careful out there, folks! Don't text and drive! In other news, crime has gone up recently. Three local stores have been robbed, and two houses were broken into just this past weekend. Police are telling homeowners to place video cameras in hard-to-see areas. (18) On a different note, our local elementary school has raised over five thousand dollars to give to Meals on Wheels. (19) With Christmas just around the corner, (20) it's important that we give as much as we can to those who have less than we do. If you or a loved one are in need of food, the local shelter on Black Rock Avenue is open daily from 6:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. And that's all for the evening news!
