Dear Jim,

How's everything going? I know you're interested in traditional Chinese culture, so I'm writing to tell you one of my recent experiences.

I visited the Capital Museum during the winter vacation and explored Chinese history and culture. I chose it as my destination because it houses a variety of exhibits, like paintings, antiques, crafts and so on. Besides, the architecture of the museum features the combination of tradition and modernity.

The visit is indeed worthwhile. I'm amazed at the wisdom of Chinese people and impressed by the brilliance of Chinese civilization.

Feel an itch for the visit? I'd like to show you around the museum. Waiting for your coming!

Yours,

Li Hua

Text 5

M: Did you see the new talk show with Larry Martin on TV last night? It was so informative.

W: I wanted to see it, but I wasn't able to leave for the day (下班) until 9:00. Larry Martin is a great host and I think it must be a great program.

Text 6

M: You just said you need to make some changes to the schedule for tomorrow?

W: I'm so sorry. ⑥Mr. King's sick, so I'm picking you up here at the airport. And he will meet you some other time.

M: That's OK. Anyway, ⑦it's a good chance to avoid a busy schedule.

W: And I truly apologize that I want to cancel the lunch in the restaurant and have sandwiches in the office, because I have an important meeting to attend.

M: That's fine. I don't eat lunch normally.

Text 7

W: Good morning. Can I help you?

M: Yes. I'm interested in one of your mountain bikes. Can you tell me something about that one over there?

W: Well, yes. We have a boy's model and a girl's model. ⑧The boy's is available in yellow and purple. And the girl's is available in grey and pink. It's been on the market for just a few months.

M: Oh, that won't be necessary. (12)The large group in the back room seems to be ready to leave soon. I'll go and check it for you.

W: That's great. Thank you very much, sir.

Text 10

W: Now I want to tell you about a fantastic exhibition at the Science Museum. It's called "A Changing World" and it is all about global warming. (17)The exhibition will start on October 3rd and it will last for a week.

The first thing you'll notice when you walk in is hundreds of pairs of wellington boots. (18)Everyone needs to put on the boots because the whole exhibition area is flooded with water. The idea is to show what will happen if sea levels continue to rise. It really makes you think deeply.

One of the best shows is the one about the Arctic. In the room, there is a huge block of ice, which is slowly becoming liquid. There are also a number of photos, which show clearly how the sea ice is disappearing year after year.

(19)As you walk around the exhibition, you'll see that all over the walls there're posters which explain the causes and effects of global warming. The content was written especially for this exhibition by some famous scientists, so you can be sure that you are getting the most up-to-date information.

There are some computers at the end of the exhibition. (20)You can use them to send e-mails to your friends and let them know what you have learned or give them advice on what they can do to stop global warming.
