第二节

I gathered up my strength to speed up but suddenly fell to the ground. My world was clouded by total darkness. How wish the ground to crack and swallow me! I could feel everybody was staring at me, widening their mouths and not being able to utter a word. The sudden silence brought sharp pain in my knees and "failure" was the only word flashing in my mind. Then the silence was broken by a deep voice, "You won't give up so easily, will you?" The boy ahead of me turned back and pulled me up. "Let's run to the finishing line together!" The second mile saw its end while we ran shoulder to shoulder.

In the last mile, seeing the athletes passing us one by one, I asked the boy to run without me. "You could win a place if you went by yourself." I looked at him in the eyes with sweat blurring my sight. The boy breathing heavily drops of sweat rolled down his face. He shook his head saying, "Winning a place is not that important, isn't it?" Then we smiled at each other as if we had been the only runners. The last mile seemed shorter and we enjoyed the moment when we passed the finishing line together with thunderous applause. I know they cheered for us not for winning a race but for something more important.

附：听力材料

(Text 1)

M: I'm so glad I left my old job. It was closer to my home than my new job, but the pay was so low.

W: So you're happy with the new job.

M: I am. The only thing I don't like is the vacation time. I get only three weeks a year.

(Text 2)

W: Excuse me. Could you tell me how to get to the Global Theater?

M: Yes, it's right at the end of this street but not within walking distance. I suggest you take the Number 6 bus across the street.

W: Oh, I see the bus stop over there. Thanks.

(Text 3)

W: My niece lost her toy duck in the park a week ago. I hope to find a similar one here.

M: Probably this is not the best place. Prices in malls are usually higher than anywhere else. You can try Tracy's.

W: Do you mean the large supermarket on Backstreet?

(Text 4)

M: Hey Denise, are you still going climbing at the weekend? I heard there was going to be a storm.

W: Absolutely! If it's bad, I have some good-quality camping equipment and there's somewhere to stay nearby.

M: Okay, be careful and give me a call if you need me.

(Text 5)

M: Is that the menu for the employees' cafeteria?

W: I think this is yesterday's menu. They have a different one for each day of the week.

M: Where can I get today's menu?

W: They always post it on the employee website.

(Text 6)

W: Hello. I have a reservation for a rental truck and I'm here to pick it up.

M: Certainly. Thanks for choosing Canton Rentals. Before you can take the vehicle, you'll just have to fill out a few more things for your rental agreement on this computer.

W: OK, great. Hmm, I see here you need my confirmation number, but I'm afraid I didn't bring it.

M: That's not a problem. I'll look it up in our database right now. First, could you tell me your last name?

(Text 7)

M: Have you seen the video for the band's new song yet?

W: Yes, I watched it last night. It's really not like their other stuff, but I couldn't stop listening to it.

M: Maybe I'll start to like it once I've heard it a few more times. I don't think I've ever seen such an incredible video, though.

W: I guess they've hired a Hollywood director to make it—you can tell from the quality.

M: The dancing looks like something from another planet!

W: I think it's the costumes that created that effect. The routines themselves are quite like other videos I've seen.

(Text 8)

M: Diana, I'm really struggling to sell the 2-bedroom apartment down by the waterfront. I think the owner's asking price is just too high.

W: Yes, I guess property prices are rising sharply at the waterfront because of the new cinema that's being built there.

M: Right, and that's only the beginning. The council has mentioned a brand new sports complex and swimming pool, too.

W: Wow! It's certainly gonna be a desirable neighborhood.

M: Definitely. Oh, that reminds me...I have a couple of other apartments there to add to our online lists. I'll catch up with you later.

(Text 9)

W: Eric, you've recently returned from a cycle trip with your dad across the USA. Why did you want to do this ride?

M: I suppose the usual reason for doing it is to collect money for charity. We certainly did that, and spent a long time with each other too, which was wonderful. But most importantly, we both fancied doing something really different during the summer holiday.

W: What was a typical day like?

M: Every day was different. Some were good; some were difficult. But all were good experience. It wasn't actually how far we rode that made a day good or bad, it was more what happened. Having a conversation with some local people seemed to make us even happier than feeling the sun on our faces.

W: And have you got plans for doing more cycling?

M: I'm in my final year at school now, and I need to do all to get to university, so it's not the best time for me to go for long rides. Rather than go out on weekend rides, I prefer to enter some competitions.

W: Good luck, Eric!

(Text 10)

M: Now I'll very quickly outline current plans for some of the town's facilities.

As you know, if you regularly use the car park at the railway station, it's usually full. The railway company applied for permission to replace it with a multi-story car park, but that was refused. Instead, the company has bought some connecting land, and this will be used to increase the number of parking spaces. The Grand, the old cinema in the high street, will close at the end of the year, and reopen on a different site. You've probably seen the building under construction. The plan is to have three screens with fewer seats. The indoor market is even older. The good news is that it will close for six weeks to be redecorated, and the improved building will open in July. Lots of people use the library. The council has managed to secure funding to keep the library open later into continue to be the case. What will change is that the council will no longer be in charge of the area. Instead, it will become the responsibility of a national organization that administers most nature reserves in the country.
