One possible version:

Dear Ryan,

Hearing that you are coming to China this winter vacation, I'd like to recommend you a wonderful place---Xi'an.

Located in the northwest of China, Xi'an is one of the best-known tourist destinations in China. Not only can you pay a visit to the celebrated Terracotta Army, which is regarded as the "World's Eighth Wonder", but also you can climb the magnificent HuaShan Mountain, whose splendid and natural beauty will overwhelm anyone who stands on the top of it. Additionally, going cycle the City Wall is considered a must for anyone who visits the city of Xi'an. Of course, the various local snacks there will definitely comfort your crying stomach.

Welcome to China! I'm sure you'll have a brilliant time in Xi'an.

Yours,

附音原文

Text 1

W: I'm making a little sweater for your baby brother. It's going to be blue, with white buttons.

M: It looks like the one you made for me when I was a baby. But instead of blue, mine was purple. (1)

Text 2

M: I'm planning a trip to Hawaii. I wonder if you could give me some information.

W: Certainly. What would you like to know?

M: Well, first of all, I want to know the price of the airplane tickets and the deals about hotels. (2)

Text 3

W: The thing I like about chess is that you always have to think about your next move. You have to concentrate on it.

M: Yes, planning in advance is important, but I like the way it relaxes me most. It takes my mind off work. (3)

Text 4

M: Tomorrow's test will be at 9:00 a.m. Don't be late!

W: I usually get up at 8:00 a.m. I guess I'd better wake up 20 minutes earlier than normal tomorrow, though. (4)

Text 5

W: I try to exercise, but I never know if I'm doing enough to keep healthy. Should I take a physical exam?

M: No, get a fitness application. (5) It counts your steps, and then tells you how it has affected your fitness.

Text 6

W: Hi, James. (7)

M: Hello, Betty. (6) (7) Where are you going?

W: I'm on my way to buy some new pictures for my bedroom. (6) The Maxi Mart is having a sale on candles and pictures, and I'd like to see what they have.

M: Great, but be careful. You can't return goods on sale there if you dislike them.

W: I know. I changed the wallpaper in my bedroom, and I believe I can find some great ones that go with it.

M: Good idea. I'll go with you. I need some things for my kitchen, too. (7)

Text 7

W: Jack, have you heard about our school's new project — Sports Week?

M: Yes. Do you have any ideas? We should hurry up, because the project will start next week.

W: What do you think about inviting famous athletes to meet with local students? Athletes would tell their stories and give some interviews.

M: Personally, I think we should invite our town leaders instead. (9) Inviting famous athletes or actors will cost a lot. We should also arrange some kind of mini Olympics on our playground.

W: Yeah. That's a great idea! Oh, I have to go. I have to bring these newspapers to the teachers' office.

(10) Let's talk about our ideas on our way home together. Bye!

Text 8

W: Is poetry more popular in China than in the West?

M: I don't know. But I think most people don't read poetry in the West. (11)

W: Why not? Because of the pronunciation of Old English?

M: I actually like the pronunciation. But in school we are taught to study it and find meanings, instead of just enjoying it. That puts me off. (11) How about you?

W: We do pretty much the same thing in school as well. But I find learning the meaning is important. (12)

M: Why? Won't that make poetry boring?

W: Not at all. Only after we learn the meaning, can we read between the lines.

M: Ah, that makes sense. Have you ever tried to write poetry?

W: No. But my grandpa loves writing poetry. (13) He often read his poems to me when I was young.

Text 9

W: Is this your first day?

M: Yes, my mom just dropped me off. I'm a little bit nervous as I'm not sure what I need to do. (14)

W: Don't worry. I'm your line manager. (15) I'll show you. OK, so firstly, this factory is owned by a big supermarket. We supply all their fruit and vegetables.

M: I saw flowers being packed outside.

W: Yes, we supply them with flowers as well. Anyway, the factory is next to a huge farm. (16)

M: So, I'm guessing the farm grows all the fruit, vegetables and flowers, and then they are brought here to be packed?

W: Correct. Then they are sent off to the supermarket to be sold. Come with me and I'll show you where you'll be working.

M: OK. Please lead the way.

W: Here is our work area. Today we are packing tomatoes. The next day, potatoes. (17) And on Wednesday, carrots. It changes all the time.

M: I see. So, the tomatoes come into this area and then I have to put them into these boxes?

W: Yes! You pick things up well. You have to stay calm because the tomatoes come in quickly.

M: Right, got it. Thanks!

Text 10

Good morning, everybody. Before we start the class today, I need to give you some information about our field trip on the 27th of May. As you know, we're spending the day at The Science Museum in London.

A coach will pick us up in the school car park. We'll leave at 8 o'clock, (18) so plan to be there at least fifteen minutes before that, 7:45 at the latest. You'd better set your alarms for 6:30, okay? If you've visited The Science Museum before, you'll know that it's enormous, and we can't possibly see everything in one day. The Welcome Wing has three galleries which deal only with contemporary science. We're going to have a guided tour of one of them. We've ordered lunch at the café, so we'll all meet up there at 12:30. And don't be late. We have to go to the cinema at 1:15. (19) I think that's all for now. Oh, one last thing. Checkout The Science Museum website before we go.(20) The more you read about it, the more interesting the visit will be.
