Paragraph 1:

Mother thought a moment and finally agreed. The moment I heard what mom answered, I jumped up happily. However, the next day, the small puppy was seriously ill and was lying on the old rug, dying. Mother saw him and decided to throw him away at once, but I insisted on taking him to the animals' hospital. In the end, mother agreed to go there. After the doctor had observed him carefully, he said that he caught a bad cold, so he gave him some medicine and told us how to treat him.

Paragraph 2:

After leaving the hospital, mother patted the dog's head softly. When we got in the house, the family came up and took care of him. The following days, with the help of my family, Spotty recovered quickly. Every night, Spotty followed my family walking around, running back and forth and living a happy life with us.
