W: Jackie, the bike broke down on my way home again! Come and repair it!

M: I don't think I can do anything with it. Why not buy a new one?

W: But it will cost over 100 dollars.

Text 3

W: Martin, why didn't you answer my telephone call this morning? You should have attended a meeting this afternoon.

M: I'm sorry, Mary, but my cellphone ran out of power. I couldn't recharge it.

W: Oh, I see. I asked William to go instead.

Text 4

M: I think we've covered everything on this topic of the meeting. What about a cup of coffee before we move on to the next topic?

W: Good idea. I really can't wait another minute.

Text 5

M: Sugar, flour, salt, butter and milk! Perfect! I just need to mix them together. It's so easy.

M: Good morning, madam. I want to make an appointment with a doctor, but I don't know what to do.

W: Morning. Well, first, you need to create a MyChart account through UC Health.

M: A MyChart account?

W: Exactly, you can find it on the homepage of our campus. Then you just need to locate your health insurance information and upload it to MyChart.

M: I'm not sure whether I have any health insurance here. I'm an international student.

W: Oh, never mind. For international students, your health insurance information has already been in the Health Services data. You needn't upload it.

M: Then what else do I need to do?

W: Make a list of current medication and a health report, and then upload to MyChart. Then you can request an appointment through your MyChart account.

M: Thank you very much.

W: You're welcome. Do you have any other inquiries?

M: I also have trouble in opening a bank account.

W: Well...

M: Well, so there was a gap year during your university in New York.

W: Yes, I went to Peru to work as a volunteer.

M: What did you do there?

W: For the first several months, I joined the dog rescue team, and took care of the homeless street dogs. Later, I also worked as a volunteer teaching English.

M: I don't think these experiences related to the position you applied for.

W: I'm afraid I cannot agree. The experiences in Peru help me become a more ambitious person, which is the basic requirement in the high-tech field.

M: Impressive. Do you have a salary range expectation?

W: My salary expectation is between $50,000-$60,000 per year, and I'm flexible and willing to discuss.

M: I see.

For all meat, fish and shellfish, keep them on the bottom shelf, especially if you are storing it raw, but this is a good practice even if the meat is cooked. Usually, 2 days for raw chicken, 3-4 days for cooked chicken; 5 days for raw beef but 3 days for cooked one; for most kinds of fish and sea food, 2 days is a proper period to stay fresh. Compared with these, fruits and vegetables can stay longer in the fridge. For example, apples can be preserved in the fridge for about 6 weeks. However, the days vary with the temperature. Strawberries can stay only 3 days in 41°F but up to 2 weeks in 32°F. As to the leftovers, ...
