

知识产权声明

感恩遇见，相互成就，本课件资料仅供您个人参考、教学使用，严禁自行在网络传播，违者依知识产权法追究法律责任。

更多教学资源请关注
公众号：溯恩高中英语

2020学年杭州市高二上期末统测 读后续写讲评

临安区昌化中学
李冬琴

试题呈现：

• 第二节：读后续写（满分25分）

阅读下面短文，根据所给情节进行续写，使之构成一个完整的故事。

- My very first fur baby was a white cat named Rebel, I got him from the Animals center, and he quickly took over the house and my heart. He was almost six months old when he disappeared, and I was heartbroken.
- I searched for him everywhere, talking to the neighbours, putting up posters, and even offering a reward. I checked the shelter and the emergency vet clinic to see if he had been injured or picked up. No one had seen him, so I kept searching.
- I lived in the city, close to high traffic road, and Rebel didn't have “street smarts” because he was an indoor cat I also had an idea that if he got lost. he wouldnt be able to find his way home. Every time I went out, I would search for him as I drove down the road. Nothing.

- Weeks went by with no sign of my cat. Everyone said I had to accept the result that was certain to happen --either he was dead, or someone else had him and was giving him a good home. I didn't accept that, I just couldn't.
- After two weeks with no sign of him, I put his bed, toys, food, bowls, and litter box into storage so I wouldn't have to walk by the sad reminders every day. But I still wasn't ready to give up.
- One morning, I left for work a few minutes early and started walking to the bus stop a block away. It was a nice autumn day, pleasantly cold and sunny a good day for a walk. I arrived at the bus stop and checked to see if the bus was coming, but little early. Something told me to keep going, so I decided to walk to the next bus stop, I got there and saw the bus coming, but I just kept walking and watching the bus swiftly pass by, knowing I was going to be late for work. But something told me to keep going.

Read the story

Analyze the story line and emotional line

Read the characters

Know the main characters (明确主要人物)

“I”

- loved my cat
- felt heart-broken, sad at the disappearance of my cat
- kept searching for it
- looked forward to finding it.

- a white fur cat
- loved and taken good care of by me
- indoor cat, not having “street smarts”

cat

Implied information: Lacking street smarts was the reason why he got lost and couldn't find the way home.

Prediction : How would I make sure he wouldn't get lost again If I found him? (也可以在续写中使用)

Design the plot

Para.1 I continued to walk for another twenty minutes.

1. What did I see /hear?

What was the cat like/doing?

2. What did I do?

How did the cat react ?

3. How did I feel?

4. Did I still go to work that day?

Para.2 I turned around and carried him home.

1. How did the cat react when arriving at home?

2. What did we do after arriving home?

3. How did I feel having the cat back home?

key words:

- ☐ fur
- ☐ white
- ☐ check
- ☐ food
- ☐ bowls
- ☐ walk
- ☐ work
- ☐ bus
- ☐ decide

Design the plot

Para.1 I continued to walk for another twenty minutes.

1. What did I see /hear?

- ☐ I caught sight of a white cat.
- ☐ A cat came into sight.
- ☐ A faint meow of a cat came into my ears

3. What did I do?

- ☐ walked
- ☐ observed
- ☐ checked
- ☐ called her name
- ☐ petted her

2.What was the cat like ?

- ☐ was very dirty, no longer white
- ☐ looked ragged (乱蓬蓬的) with fur in a mess
- ☐ smelt awfully bad

4. How did the cat react ?

- ☐ meowed/purred (猫叫).
- ☐ jumped into my arms
- ☐ pushed his face into mine

5. How did I feel ?

- ☐ let out a sigh of relief, thinking he was fine
- ☐ a wave of wild joy swept me.
- ☐ burst into tears of joy.

Para.2 I turned around and carried him home _____

1. How did the cat react when arriving at home?

- ☐ felt at ease and secure in my arms
- ☐ enjoyed everything I did for him
- ☐ can hardly wait to explore every corner of the house

2.what did we do ?

- ☐ fed the cat
- ☐ gave a hot bath to him.
- ☐ crouched on the sofa together

3. How did I feel having the cat back home?

- ☐ was happy and grateful

Conclude the writing in various ways

1. 自然式结尾:

- Exhausted, Rebel quickly closed his eyes and fell fast sleep in his bed. I sat by his side, feeling grateful to have him home again.
- I kissed Rebel goodbye, grabbed my bags and ran to catch the next bus.

2. 情景交融结尾:

Rebel was crouching on the sofa as he always liked to do. With a beam of sunlight falling on the ground, everything looked so wonderful. “It is a nice day, isn't it?” I said to myself, smiling.

Conclude the writing in various ways

3. 首尾呼应:

- It hit me that Rebel didn't have street smarts. I made an important decision that I would buy him a collar(脖圈) with my phone number marked on it online, for I couldn't be heartbroken again.

4. 回忆式结尾

- With Rebel lying in my arms comfortably, I couldn't help recalling how much hard I tried to search for him and how sad I felt with no sign of him at home. I was so happy to have him back. I would always cherish the time together with Rebel.

Language accumulation

Describe a cat or a dog

- A cat
- Some of adult cats will be keen to cuddle up on the sofa or lounge around at your feet.
- She was skinny and starving, with crinkled(皱巴巴的), dirty-spotted fur.
- She gazed up at the Aldens with golden green eyes and began to purr
- Hearing his name, Rebel meowed with delight.
- He stretched himself at full length upon the branch, and wriggled his body cautiously along. Then, it ran down the tree like lightning.(a wild cat)

Dog:

My dog, Daisy, followed me into the room, jumped on the bed, and started licking me all over my face.

“He was on your holiday card!” I said, letting the dog sniff my hand.

When I started petting her, she basically just rolled over onto her back.

As soon as she heard Auggie's voice say that, the dog started wagging her tail and went over to him.

Auggie was saying as she licked him over the face.

I said to the dog, who rolled onto her back again for me to rub her tummy.

----- 以上句子均选自 《奇迹男孩》

The interaction between owners and a pet.

- I kept looking at Daisy, kissing her on the nose and rubbing her ear until her back leg did that little flea-scrath shake.
- Daisy was panting(vi. 气喘吁吁) a lot, like she'd been running in the park. Mom was kneeling beside her ,stroking the top of her head(抚摸着她的头).
- Daddy picked her up in his arms with her legs straight up in the air and he and Mom kissed her goodbye over and over again and whispered to her while the vet put a needle into her leg .

-----Wonder 《奇迹男孩》

Language accumulation

Expressions about the joy of regaining a lost pet

1. _____, because I finally found my cat.
2. _____ as my cat settled comfortably in my arms.

- A wave/burst/ flush of happiness swept/flooded over me. 一阵喜悦席卷了我。
- A ripple of happiness well up inside me. 一种幸福涌入我心。
- A ripple of excitement ran through me. 一种激动向我袭来。
- A wave of wild joy took hold of me. 一种狂喜控制了我。
- Tears of joy welled up in/flooded my eyes. 我的眼里噙满了幸福的泪水。
- Tears of joy streamed/rolled down my cheeks. 幸福的泪水流了
- ◆ My heart was overflowed with happiness/joy 我的心充满了快乐。
- ◆ My happiness was beyond words/description. 我的快乐无以言表
- ✓ I was wild with great joy. 我欣喜若狂
- ✓ I teared up with happiness. 我高兴的留下了眼泪。
- ✓ I shed tears of happiness 我留下了喜悦的眼泪。
- ✓ I was overwhelmed by the unexpected joy. 我被意想不到的喜悦所淹没。

• 下水作文

- I continued to walk for another twenty minutes. All of a sudden, a white cat came into sight. It was busy searching for food in a green dustbin. The delightful thought that it might be my cat urged me to walk closer. The skinny cat looked ragged with its dirty-spotted and messy fur. What's worse, it had an extremely awful smell. However, I was quite sure it was my cat---Rebel. I called his name and he purred at me with delight and then quickly jump into my arms as I knelt by his side. A wave of happiness swept over me because I had finally found him.
- I turned around and carried him home. He felt at ease and secure in my arms all the way. The moment I stepped into the house, he let out a mew of delight as if to tell me he perviously lived here. I fed him some food and water and then gave him a hot bath. He looked a bit refreshed and enjoyed everything I did for him. Having decided to keep him company , I phoned my boss to make an apology and ask a day leave. Rebel was crouching on the sofa as he always liked to do. With a beam of sunlight falling on the ground, everything looked so wonderful. “ It is a nice day, isn't it?” I said to myself, smiling (情景交融式结尾) .

One possible version:

I continued to walk for another twenty minutes. Subconsciously, I went off in the direction of a neighbourhood I wasn't familiar with. I was walking along when I heard a cat's mew faintly. It was my cat! He was sitting by a fence and he was very dirty, no longer white, more of a dirty brown colour. His fur was in a mess and having an extremely bad smell, and he even had a skin disease on a ragged torn ear. He was frighteningly thin. I called his name as I scooped him into my arms. He pushed his dirty face into mine. I teared up with happiness because I had found my cat.

I turned around and carried him home. He settled comfortably in my arms and made a quiet continuous soft sound all the way. When we got home, I refilled his bowls with food and water and set up his litter box. I hold him close in my arms some more and then phoned to tell my boss I was on my way, promising to make up the time I had missed. I had another quick snuggle with my cat, washed up , grabbed my bags, and ran to catch the next bus.

THANK YOU !

