Dear Johnson,

This email is to inform you the school's annual English Singing Party is to sound off. We cordially invite you to join us and enjoy it.

The party is scheduled to go from 1:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. next Friday in the school theatre. Snacks and fruit will be served at the interval. The singers will surely bring us cheers and energy by performing different songs.

If possible, we'd also like you to do a performance on stage. Please let us know if you are fine with the idea.

Looking forward to your reply.

Yours sincerely,
Li Hua

第二节 读后续写（满分 25 分）

My mother called me to the dinner table, but I ignored her. When she came to the bathroom door and demanded that I come out and have a meal, I burst out of the door, tears streaming down my cheeks. Before she stopped me, I stormed into my room and slammed the door shut behind me. Looking into the mirror, I saw a girl with more and darker freckles on the face instead of peaches-and-cream complexion. Only then did I realize that the cream had a reverse effect when wearing it in the sun. I threw myself down on the bed and sobbed.

After what seemed a century, I heard a gentle knock on my bedroom's door. Hesitating for a moment, with puffy eyes and still wet cheeks, I shuffled across the room to open the door. At the door stood my mother and Janette with a big bunch of tiger lilies, which were covered with black spots but amazingly beautiful. I stared at them in stunned surprise, not knowing what to say. My mother held me in her warm embrace. "There are all kinds of flowers, and they are all beautiful and sweet," said she. Hearing this, and smelling the fragrance of the tiger lilies, the freckles on my face seemed to have magically faded.
