What's Hidden Inside the Blind Box?

Hello, everyone! Have you ever been tempted by a mysterious blind box? These captivating packages have taken the world by storm, creating a booming market spanning from cartoon figures to fashion collaborations.

From my perspective, the phenomenon's appeal lies in two key factors. Firstly, the thrilling anticipation of unboxing creates a unique emotional experience that makes the process more engaging than simply purchasing a known item. Secondly, it satisfies our collecting instinct while fulfilling social needs through shared interests with peers. However, these very attractions also conceal risks- the compulsory chase for rare items may lead to excessive spending and cultivate a gambling-like mentality.

So, what's your take? Is the joy worth the risk? I believe the hidden prize isn't the unknown toy, but that engineered thrill. Recognizing this pull is precisely what allows us to enjoy the fun wisely.

With AI's assistance, Mira began her plan. First, she worked with AI to create customized recipes for Grandma, accounting for her age-related digestive issues and past preferences to make nutritious, easy-to-swallow dishes. Meanwhile, following AI's suggestion to make Grandma feel valued, the family started to shower her with more attention——sitting with her at meals, chatting warmly, expressing appreciation and encouraging her to eat. As days passed, Grandma began to sense the genuine care and importance the family placed on her. Gradually, the once-stubborn resistance to food faded away.

As meals became less of a battle, Mira decided to relight the sparkle in grandmother's eyes.“It's time to make her feel needed,” Mira thought, appealing to Grandma's pride as the village's best tailor and asking her to make a special outfit for a school event. Grandma's eyes lit up immediately, a spark of the old force she once had returning. Mira and Grandma spent hours crafting together——Grandma patiently guiding her through measuring, cutting, and sewing, sharing stories of her tailor days. This interaction restored Grandma's self-worth, strengthened their bond, and gave her a new lease on life. Her appetite improved with renewed energy from skill recognition, leaving Mira amazed at AI's role as an outstanding virtual psychologist.

Text 10 (第 17 题为主旨大意题)

When was the last time you looked up and saw a clear sky full of stars? If you live in a big city, the answer is probably: a long time ago. The reason for this is light pollution. Streetlights, billboards and even the lights in our houses block our view of the night sky and mask the stars. According to a study, 60% of Europeans and almost four-fifths of people in North America cannot see the Milky Way at night.(18) Bright lights don't just make us miss a nice view. They also affect animals, confusing them when they migrate. For example, sea turtles, which navigate by the moon, often become disoriented due to artificial lights on beaches.(19) Birds that migrate at night are also thrown off course by city lights, sometimes flying into buildings or changing their migration patterns altogether. And this type of pollution is bad for human health by disrupting human sleep patterns. Luckily, there are solutions. First, cities can install streetlights that point downward instead of spreading light in all directions.(20) Then, shops can turn off bright signs after midnight. Last, we could follow the Czech Republic's example and introduce a law against light pollution. We may see the starry night sky once again if we take action now.
