Possible Version 1: 删除活动版

Dear Mrs. Smith,

Thank you for informing me that our volunteer activity will be shortened to 90 minutes, from 2:00 to 3:30 p. m.To adjust to the new schedule, I suggest removing Activity 4 (Free Chat) while keeping the other three activities unchanged.

The lecture provides essential knowledge, the one-on-one coaching helps seniors put this knowledge into practice, and the Online Safety Q&A raises awareness of digital risks. Together, these three parts directly serve our goal of helping seniors go digital. However, the Free Chat session is relatively less essential, as seniors can continue sharing their thoughts and experiences beyond the event. Moreover, since this open-ended part takes exactly 30 minutes, cutting it will perfectly fit our new 90-minute timeframe.

I hope you' ll consider my suggestion and that our activity will be a great success.

Yours,

Li Hua

Possible Version 2: 调整时间版

Dear Mrs. Smith,

Thank you for informing me that our volunteer activity will be shortened to 90 minutes, from 2:00 to 3:30 p. m.Instead of cutting any activity, I recommend keeping all four but adjusting their duration.

The lecture could be shortened to 20 minutes by focusing on key points, while the 40-minute one-on-one coaching session should remain unchanged to ensure sufficient hands-on learning. I'd also keep the 20-minute online safety Q&A, as it plays a crucial role in raising seniors' awareness of digital risks. Finally, the Free Chat could be reduced to 10 minutes, still allowing seniors to share their experiences and ask questions. This way, we can make the most of the 90 minutes without losing any essential part of the activity.

I hope these adjustments will prove practical and ensure a rewarding learning experience for the seniors.

Yours,

Li Hua

Possible Version 3: 合并活动版

Dear Mrs. Smith,

Thank you for informing me that our volunteer activity will be shortened to 90 minutes, from 2:00 to 3:30 p. m.To fit the new schedule, I propose merging Free Chat with the one-on-one coaching, while keeping the other two activities unchanged.

The lecture and the Online Safety Q&A should remain untouched, as they respectively provide foundational knowledge and raise risk awareness. During the one-on-one coaching, volunteers can engage seniors in casual conversations while guiding them through phone operations, making the session both instructional and interactive.This eliminates the need for a separate Free Chat period while still allowing seniors to share experiences and ask questions.

In this way, we can deliver all four activities within 90 minutes without sacrificing their value. Please let me know if any further adjustments are needed.

Yours,

Li Hua

第二节

One Possible Version:

Paragraph 1: I looked at the nearly bare side of the tree, thinking about what the gardener had said. Maybe the tree really did need more time. So I decided not to rush but to keep caring for it patiently. From then on, I checked the soil regularly, loosened the old ropes a little at a time, removed the remaining damaged branches and kept an eye out for insects. William sometimes joined me, holding the ladder or gathering fallen leaves. For several weeks, little seemed to change. Then one afternoon, while examining a bare branch, I noticed several tiny green buds pushing through the bark. After that,I stopped checking every day and simply let it grow.

Paragraph 2: Several months later, William suddenly called me into the backyard. “You'd better come and see this,” he said, his voice bright with excitement. I hurried outside and followed his gaze. Among the fresh green leaves hung a small, perfectly shaped lemon, glowing in the sunlight. Several more hid among the branches.William touched one gently and laughed. “I really thought we'd lost it.” In the weeks that followed, the tree was filled with healthy fruit. One afternoon, as I was sitting in the shade of the recovering tree, the gardener's words came back to me with new weight: some things cannot be forced back to life; they must be trusted, tended, and given time to grow again.

Text 2

M: Should we pick up audio guides at the entrance?

W: Of course. We might come across historical figures we know nothing about. Does the museum charge extra for them?

M: Yes,$3 each.

W: We' ll get two.

Text 3

M: Excuse me, Miss. Are you heading to Orange County?I can't get a taxi here.

M: Thanks a lot.

Text 4

M: What's the difference between these two cars? Their prices are almost the same.

W: This blue one is more fuel-efficient, which is better for longer trips. That white SUV has more space. It depends on your needs.

Text 5

M: Hey, what are you doing with my notebook?

W: Sorry, I saw it lying on the bench and tried to find its owner's name. ⑤But some explanations of a math theory caught my eye. Thanks to them, now I totally get what Mr. Lee said in class.

Text 6

W: Chris, I'm going to look around the mall. Would you like to come along?

M: Hmm... I actually need to choose a present for my cousin Jack, ⑥but I'm really short on time to go shopping.

M: Actually, I've been hired by a firm downtown. ⑩My pay has doubled, and I'm entitled to 21 days' paid leave annually.

W: That's great! You must be over the moon.

M: Absolutely! I couldn't be happier.

W: How will you get to work? Parking is nearly impossible downtown.

M: Surprisingly, the company has rented an apartment for me near the office. ⑨It's only a five-minute walk. I won't even have to wait for a bus.

W: Honestly, ⑩that sounds too good to be true.

Text 8

W: Kevin, what are you frowning for?

M: I've been looking for a place around Dowling Lake for camping, but I still haven't made up my mind.

W: What is holding you back?

M: Well, the southern bank has a lot of swampy ground, so camping there is risky.⑪The opposite side has cafés and hotels, but it is a bit touristy, and must be crowded.

W: Have you asked Vance? ⑫He mentioned visiting the lake at John's birthday party last Saturday.

M: Oh, yeah. He also camped near the exit from Highway 855.⑫He said it was a not-to-be-missed place.

W: Then we might as well go there too.

M: Deal. We should get everything we need.

W: Okay. ⑬I' ll take care of the shopping list. And you can drive the car out of the garage, since the closest supermarket is miles away.

Text 9

M: Today, Mr. Regan said in class that the test would include questions beyond the literature textbook. I have no idea where to start. ⑭I can't afford to fail.

W: You can go over your notes and find all the additional books he mentioned. The extra questions must come from those resources.

M: Okay. What about PE?⑮Any suggestions on how I can do another twenty push-ups? I can only manage fifty.

W: Sorry, I'm hardly a fitness expert. Besides, the requirement for girls is only forty.

M: I wish I could join the girls' team.

W: I struggle with history. I simply can't memorize the names of those places in Ancient Greece. I can picture the places and tell when something happened there, but their names all sound the same.

M: ⑯Take a map, stick pins in those places, look up their pronunciation online, and write down one or two key facts about each place beside the pin. That's how I remember them.

W: I hope the method works for me.

Text 10(第 17 题为推断题, 第 20 题为排序题)

M: Good afternoon, everyone. As many of you know, I recently joined our travel company. On the first day here,our manager discovered that I had lived in several countries over the past decade. And he asked me to rank them based on my personal experiences.⑰Actually, I lived in each place for 18 to 24 months, which gave me sufficient time to experience daily life there. My top choice is Denmark. The food there is varied, public transport is efficient,and the balance between price and quality is particularly impressive. Then it's Georgia. The local people are welcoming, the food is memorable, and the cost of living is relatively low. I rank Sweden third. It offers a clean environment, reliable services, and beautiful scenery.⑱Although prices for everyday essentials are noticeably high,Brazil comes fourth. The climate is enjoyable, and daily expenses are lower than expected . Finally, I place Egypt fifth. It has a fascinating history and affordable food, but it took me quite a while to adapt to the climate.
