

Discovering Useful Structures

人教版新教材
Model 1 Unit1
Teenage Life

Apple

What left you a deep impression during your first week in high school?

Experience of military training

1. How was your military training in the first week?
2. How many students joined in the training in your class?
3. What was the weather like during those days?
4. How many hours have you been trained each day?
5. What do you think of your drillmaster?

An impressive experience of military training

Complete the following passage with suitable words. (Two of them are extra.)
following; more; new; quite; nonstop; sudden; enough; heavy; per; dazzling; tired; tough

Sep.6th

Thursday

Sunny

With the new school semester around the corner, 640 students in our school attended the seven-day-long military training. It was really a tough trial(考验) to freshmen. We were trained nonstop for six hours per day in marching and walking in the hot, dazzling sunshine. Presently(不久), a sudden shower worsened the situation. Beaten by the steady drops of the rain, we were almost tired to death. However, our strict drillmaster(教官) pushed us to move on, saying "All your sweat and efforts will pay off in the end! Hold on!" Hearing the words, we hardened our will, and became more diligent in the following days. Strangely enough, we didn't feel painful any more. And finally to our joy we receive an award in the military parade.

Sep.6th Thursday Sunny

... semester around the corner. 640 students in seven-day-long milit 被修饰的名词 really
 ... We were traini
 g and walking in the hot, dazzling sunshine.
in shower worsened the situation. Beaten by the steady drops of the rain, we were almost tired to death. However, our strict drillmaster(教官) pushed us to move on, saying "All your sweat and efforts will pay off in the end! Hold on!" Hearing the words, we hardened our will, and became more diligent in the following days. Strangely enough, we didn't feel painful any more. And finally to our joy we receive an award in the military parade.

用于限定名词所指的范围，
 如特指或泛指、定量或不定量等。如these, three, a, the, my和that等。

AdjP

前置修饰词

中心词headword (adj.)

中心词headword (adj.)

后置修饰词

Sep.6th

Thursday

Sunny

With the new school semester around the corner, 640 students in our school attended the seven-day-long military training. It was really a tough trial(考验) to freshmen. We were trained nonstop for six hours per day in marching and walking in the hot, dazzling sunshine. Presently(不久), a sudden shower worsened the situation. Beaten by the steady drops of the rain, we were almost tired to death. However, our strict drillmaster(教官) pushed us to move on, saying "All your sweat and efforts will pay off in the end! Hold on!" Hearing the words, we hardened our will, and became more diligent in the following days. Strangely enough, we didn't feel painful any more. And finally to our joy we receive an award in the military parade.

AdvP

前置修饰词

中心词headword (adv.)

中心词headword (adv.)

后置修饰词

Sep.6th

Thursday

Sunny

With the new school semester around the corner, 640 students in our school attended the seven-day-long military training. It was really a tough trial(考验) to freshmen. We were trained nonstop for six hours per day in marching and walking in the hot, dazzling sunshine. Presently(不久), a sudden shower worsened the situation. Beaten by the steady drops of the rain, we were almost tired to death. However, our strict drillmaster(教官) pushed us to move on, saying "All your sweat and efforts will pay off in the end! Hold on!" Hearing the words, we hardened our will, and became more diligent in the following days. Strangely enough, we didn't feel painful any more. And finally to our joy we receive an award in the military parade.

Why are AdjP/AdvP /NP important to use?

What have you learnt during the military training?

A: I learnt that

B: The seven-day training that was really meaningful to the student. So tough as it was, I was endurant through it.

They make your writing /speaking more

- SPECIFIC
- VIVID
- VISUAL
- CONVINCING

Practice

Describe the following pictures with NP/AdjP/AdvP

- After a seven-day training, I got severely sunburnt.
- Beneath the extremely hot sun, beads of sweat continued to roll down my sunburnt face.
- ◆ After a tough day, totally exhausted, I surprisingly found my exposed skin from red to completely black.

- After two-hour tedious physical training, one of my classmates, Lihua, fainted in the blazing heat.

- The most terrible part of the military training is to stand still for almost two hours each day. The longer I stood, the more stiff I felt my body become.

- The military training made us united as a team. We shared our sweat and tears, happiness and sorrows through daily ups and downs.

Group work

A. Use NPs/AdjPs/AdvPs to shapen the following surroundings

- The school contains flowers and plants that can ease tiredness .

What was so amazing to see is that the fresh, lush school contains a variety of bright, colorful flowers and strong, green plants along the playground that can ease our tiredness.

Is military training necessary for freshmen?

Extremely tough as it was, it offered an opportunity for students to heighten their awareness of self-discipline, harden their bodies as well as learn some skills to cooperate with others.

A new understanding of military training:

The military training is a way to:

- Toughen our bodies;*
- Restore our faith;*
- Abandon our indolence(懒惰);*
- Inherit our military spirit;*
- Narrow the distance between classmates*

Homework

下文是Amy 所写的军训通讯稿, 缺少生动、具体的描写。现在Amy求助你帮她改写文章, 请你用合适的名词短语、形容词短语、副词短语丰富稿件内容, 使描述对象/事件更加具体、生动、突出。

B. Use NPs/AdjPs/AdvPs to concretize the following event

www.sunedu.com

We began our military training with fear. Actually, I prayed that it would rain so we could miss it and stay indoors. But I was wrong. The training continued even it rained cats and and dogs. What's worse, exhausted as we were, there was much for us to improve.

Suddenly, a girl fainted. I took her to the room. When she came to life, she cried and complained. I tried to calm her down and explained reasons to her. To my joy, she returned to continue the training with me.

As planned, we began our one-week military training with increasing fear day after day. To be honest, every single day I prayed in my heart that it would rain heavily so we could miss it and stay indoors. But I was totally wrong. The training continued even it rained cats and dogs. What's worse, extremely exhausted as we were, there was still much for us to improve.

What impressed me most was a girl beside me who fainted in the dazzling sun. I took her to the medical room immediately. When slowly she came to life, she burst out crying and complained a lot about the harsh training. I tried to calm her down and explained the positive reasons to her. To my great joy, with my encouragement, she returned to continue the training with me.

Recalling the past seven days, I learnt that the military training made us united as a real family. We shared our sweat and tears, happiness and sorrows through daily ups and downs. The strict discipline and hard training were real challenges, but it was these sufferings that strengthened our minds, and tightened our friendships.

The end

