答案略

英语听力原文

第一节:

Text 1

M: Excuse me, could you tell me where the nearest bank is?

W: Sure. Turn right at the second corner and go straight for two blocks. Then you'll see the bank on the left, between a bookstore and a drugstore.

Text 2

M: I've forgotten when the concert starts. Does it say on the tickets?

W: It says 7: 00, as usual. But the ticket agent said that the time had been changed for this performance. It'll start an hour later.

M: Great! That gives us an extra hour for dinner.

Text 3

M: You should really take the subway to work. Not only is it cheaper than driving your car, but it actually takes less time to get to work in the morning.

W: Yeah, but I just hate the feeling of crowded subway cars.

Text 4

W: What are your plans for Thanksgiving, Todd?

M: Oh, it's a tradition in my family to go up to my grandpa's house in the woods and have a big dinner up there. About twenty of my relatives will be coming.

W: Wow, that sounds like so much fun! I think my parents and I are just going to my aunt's house to be with her.

Text 5

W: Why is it so cold today? I thought the weather report said it was supposed to be sunny and warm...

M: Well, it is supposed to be nice later this afternoon. The fog should burn off by lunchtime, and this wind should die down, too.

第二节:

Text 6

W: Hi, Burt. I heard you're looking for a new job.

M: Yeah. I just had an interview yesterday.

W: Oh. How did it go?

M: I think it went well. They said they would make a decision by this Friday.

W: This Friday? That's pretty fast! Looks like they want to hire the person as quickly as possible.

M: Yeah! I think so, too.

W: What are your chances of getting that job, do you think?

M: I believe I have a very good chance. The director seemed to like me.

W: Well, good luck, then.

M: Thanks.

Text 7

W: Excuse me. I seem to have lost my handbag.

M: OK. We'll have to fill out this lost property report. Here we go. So, it was a handbag? What color was it?

W: Black and white.

M: And what do you think it's worth?

W: Well, it was a little pricey. I bought it last month for fifty dollars, and that was during a once-a-year sale, too.

M: What was in your bag?

W: A wallet with two hundred dollars cash, my car keys, and my driver's license. I'm sure I left it in the cafe on the sixth floor. That was the last place I remember having it.

M: And when was that?

W: About 2: 30

M: Where did you go when you left the cafe?

W: A record store. I wanted to buy some magazines there. Oh, please, sir, you've just gotta help me get it back!

Text 8

W: Excuse me. May I have a look at that blouse?

M: Certainly! It's beautiful. I can see that you have very good taste, ma'am! It really suits you!

W: Thanks. but it's not for me. It's for a friend. She asked me to buy one for her. What are you asking for this?

M: Well, madam, you're very lucky. We have a special offer going on for this week only! That blouse is normally 60 dollars, but we are offering a 10 percent discount!

W: Oh, dear! That's still more than 50 dollars, and she asked me to spend only 40.

M: I see. Well, ma'am, just look at the quality of the silk!

W: It's very nice, but I think your prices are a little high. Look, I can get a blouse like this for half that price on the Internet.

M: But not of this quality, madam.

W: I'll tell you what. I'm in a bit of hurry, so why don't we split the difference? Can we say 47 dollars?

M: 47! At that price, I'm losing money! So, let's say 50.

W: 50? Hmm... Hey, look, there's a button missing!

M: Are you sure? OK! Let's make it 47, then!

W: OK, I'll take it.

Text 9

W: Hey there, Mr. Connolly, What are you doing over there?

M: Oh, I'm just watering my tomatoes.

W: Wow, those look like they're going to be delicious! What else do you have planted back there?

M: I've got some beans over here, and it looks like my apples are just beginning to show, I planted some potatoes and onions, too, but those won't be ready until the winter.

W: Wow! I never knew you had such a green thumb!

M: Well, I'm just a beginner, actually. My wife was the real gardener. When she died, I thought that keeping our garden would be a great way to carry on her memory.

W: Yeah, she was also a great cook. I remember she used to make apple pies with the apples from your garden. I think the whole neighborhood looked forward to those pies every Christmas!

M: Yep, she sure was special. Say, weren't you and your husband talking about trying to start a garden in your backyard?

W: Yeah, but it's been... talk! We don't really know where to start. Maybe we should wait until next year.

M: Nonsense! There are plenty of things you can plant in late fall. I've got a bunch of seeds inside. Why don't you take some home?

W: Oh, I don't want to trouble you.

M: No, it's my pleasure, really! I don't have enough room here for everything.

Text 10

Good evening, ladies and gentlemen. My name is Alice Brown. As you know, we hold a series of events during the school year on various cultural topics. I am happy there's such a large crowd of both students and professors here at our city art presentation this year. I see that almost every seat is taken. Tonight, we are lucky to have as our guest, a man of considerable fame in the world of music. He began to play the piano at the age of 5, and by the time he was 10, he was already composing and playing his own pieces. He's a graduate of the famous Julliard School in New York City. Our guest has spent the last 45 years of his very successful career touring the world and giving concerts. We are fortunate to have him here to share some of his experiences with us. He has had many adventures along the way - losing instruments, missing flight connections, no hotel reservations, locked concert halls. He's played for all of the well-known conductors, not only in North America but all over the world as well. The title of his talk is 40 Years on 4 Continents. Please join me in welcoming Mr. Daniel Robinson, one of the greatest pianists of our day.
