听力原文:

Text 1

M: We're going to the park for a picnic. Would you like to come, Rose?

W: I'd love to, but I have to go downtown to get Kevin a birthday present. He invited me to his party.

Text 2

W: Larry, how is your swimming class going?

M: Well, believe it or not, we haven't touched the water so far. It's just the same body-building exercises every day.

W: No hurry, it'll be fine.

Text 3

M: What's for dinner tonight?

W: Baked beans.

M: Not beans again. I remember we've got some carrots and potatoes left.

W: We ate them up yesterday.

Text 4

W: You are always working in the office and at home. You should go to parks or theatres.

M: I have no time for parks or theatres, honey.

Text 5

M: Do you know Helen and Judy in the IT department?

W: Sure, we studied in the same university. Helen is lively and talkative, while Judy is just the opposite.

Text 6

W: Good morning, sir. Can I help you?

M: Yes, I've booked a ticket for June 22nd to Swansea. I'd like to see if there's an earlier flight available.

W: What date do you have in mind?

M: I'd prefer the 18th, if possible.

W: I'm sorry. There are no departures for the 18th. We have a flight leaving on the 15th and the 17th. Will either of these days work for you?

M: The 17th would work better for me. Thank you.

Text 7

W: Congratulations, Alex. You've just set a record in rock climbing. How do you feel now?

M: Honestly, I feel great. It's exactly what I'd hoped for.

W: Tell us about your state of mind before you started.

M: Well, my heart was racing for a few moments. I mean, it's a huge wall above you with a glass-smooth surface and no hand-holds.

W: Are you going to climb more today?

M: Probably not, but I'll do some strength training this afternoon. There will be more challenges ahead.

Text 8

W: How was your interview, Bob?

M: It was bad. I didn't get the job.

W: Oh no, I'm sorry to hear that.

M: You know what, I think I've changed my mind. I want to try something different. Maybe I don't have to work for someone else. I might start my own business.

W: Oh? What kind of business?

M: What about opening a small restaurant?

W: Well, but are you prepared both mentally and financially?

M: I can start from what I have, and I think I'm ready to do it.

W: It's easier said than done, Bob. You should give it more thought.

M: Understood. I'll choose a good location for my restaurant, and I'll do some careful research to get off to a solid start.

Text 9

M: Sally, are you busy now? I need some help.

W: Sure, Henry. What can I do?

M: I broke Sophia's toy house yesterday. I need to rebuild it for her.

W: Does she know?

M: Yeah... she was really upset. I told her I'd finish rebuilding it before she gets back from school. I'm not sure I can get it done in just two hours.

W: Don't worry, honey. Just putting together some wood pieces shouldn't be that difficult.

M: It's more complicated than that. We need to put in all those windows and doors too.

W: Why don't we just build a simpler one without those small parts?

M: No, we can't. I've promised Sophia a toy house just like the old one.

W: Well, you're right, but it will take us forever to build it. Maybe we should find Sophia's grandpa to help us.

M: Good idea.

Text 10

Okay, now let's briefly review what we have done in the past few days. We set off on Monday morning and arrived in Melbourne after a two-hour bus ride, we started with a guided tour of Eureka Tower. After lunch, we walked along Collins Street, taking in the view of Town Hall. We then took a walk through Chinatown to the State Library. Unexpectedly, we also met Markus Zusak, the author of The Book Thief, at the library on Tuesday morning. We enjoyed the beauty of the botanical gardens, followed by a tour of the Victoria Parliament House in the afternoon. Today is Wednesday. We spent most of the morning on Swanston Street studying the historic architecture. Now we've finished lunch. It's time to head back to school, and you can enjoy the views through the bus windows on the way. A big thank you to my fellow teachers and parent volunteers for your wonderful help. The students had a great time and learned a lot.
